Contemporary Racisms And Ethnicities Social And Cultural Transformations:

Contemporary Racisms and Ethnicities Mairtin Mac an Ghaill, 1999 Questions of migration national and ethnic belonging are of major symbolic significance to Western post colonial societies in uncertain times The main focus of this text is the interrelationship of changing representations of race ethnicity and racism with wider socio economic political and cultural transformations Encyclopedia of Race and Ethnic Studies Ellis Cashmore, 2004-03 The book comprises essays each highlighting a particular word or term germane to the study of race and ethnic studies Racism, Ethnicity and the Media in Africa Winston Mano, 2015-05-05 In today's Africa racism and ethnicity have been implicated in serious conflicts from Egypt to Mali to South Africa that have cost lives and undermined efforts to achieve national cohesion and meaningful development Racism Ethnicity and the Media in Africa sets about rethinking the role of media and communication in perpetuating reinforcing and reining in racism absolute ethnicity and other discriminations across Africa It goes beyond the customary discussion of media racism and ethnic stereotyping to critically address broader issues of identity belonging and exclusion Topics covered include racism in South African newspapers pluralist media debates in Kenya media discourses on same sex relations in Uganda and ethnicised news coverage in Nigerian newspapers Anti-racism and Multiculturalism Mark Alleyne, 2017-09-08 All scholarly books are engagements with the existing literature often the published scholarly work of one established discipline This book originated with modest objectives to produce a work that would be in conversation with the literature of international relations even though not of relevance only to that field The professed goal of international relations is international peace The ethical lens of pondering the best means to achieve world peace is used to filter media content in the field of multiculturalism and anti racism Although there has been little work on the impact of racial difference on the contours of contemporary international order there has been a sizeable body of research intended to abolish the credibility of pseudo scientific racism Such racism has provided the ideological foundation and justification for imperialism colonialism the holocaust and apartheid Race has been debunked as a myth Because of this racism the ideology bred of human classification according to racial difference has been found to be intellectually and morally barren But the need to communicate egalitarian and scientific sentiments remains The contributors to this volume consider five questions How does the literature on antiracism improve our understanding of conflict resolution How does the analysis of the media's role in racist and anti racist discourses improve the process of theorizing on hate and war propaganda How can research on anti racist discourse improve UN peacekeeping What implications does this subject have for theory building and cultural diversity How and why should the literature on anti racism expand research in international relations This is a unique worthwhile framework for cross disciplinary research in race and intellectual consensus and conflict Race, Racism and the Geography Curriculum John Morgan, David Lambert, 2023-03-23 Changes in the nature of knowledge production plus rapid social and cultural change have meant that the curriculum question what is to be taught and by extension whose knowledge has been hotly contested The question of what to teach has become more and more controversial This book asks what is an appropriate curriculum response to the acute renewed interest in issues of race and racism How does a school subject like geography respond The struggle over the school curriculum has frequently been portrayed as being between educational traditionalists and progressives This book suggests a way out of this impasse Drawing upon and extending insights from social realism it explores what a Future 3 geography curriculum might look like one that recognizes the importance of the academic discipline as a source of curriculum making but at the same time avoids geographical knowledge becoming set in stone The book focuses very sharply on issues of race and racism enabling teachers to engage in curriculum making in geography that is racially literate The Foreword is written by Julian Agyeman a former geography teacher in the UK and now Professor of Urban and Environmental Policy and Planning at Tufts University USA

Young Migrant Identities Sherene Idriss, 2017-07-28 In this day and age much has been discussed as to what it means to be an Arab However this enlightening volume seeks instead to invite us deeper into young Arab Australian men s lives as we explore their vocational aspirations and working experiences within highly racialised and hierarchical industries Young Migrant Identities is an in depth exploration into the lives of Arab Australian young men living in Western Sydney with creative career aspirations

Indeed not only does Idriss explore how these men develop interests in fields such as music filmmaking and design but she also examines the multilinear routes that they take to turn these interests into vocational identities. However in the local migrant communities in which these young men live creative identities are seen to compromise individual and familial prospects for social mobility and artistic interests tend to go unsupported. Thus this book also strives to offer new insights about how notions of gender ethnicity and social class are experienced because of these young men's risky career ambitions. A timely volume Young Migrant Identities draws together a range of theoretical issues and debates engaging with sociological approaches to race and social class creative and cultural economies and studies on youth. It will particularly appeal to post graduate students and post doctoral researchers interested in fields such as Youth Studies Ethnicity Studies Cultural Economy and Migration Studies.

Racisms in the New World Order Narayan Gopalkrishnan, Hurriyet Babacan, 2007 Racism is a significant social problem that diminishes the social fabric of society creates social tension and impacts on the life chances of the people involved. It impacts upon those who perpetuate it on those who are at the receiving end TM as well as on those who are not directly involved in the problem. Within the complexities of a globalized world with its networks of actors and processes racism is constantly changing its form and impacts. This book examines the contemporary forms of racisms evolving within this context moving beyond the traditional idea of a single monolithic racism based on biology or culture. It offers new perspectives on theorising the new racisms and looks at the intersections with different forms of prejudice and discrimination such as sexism and ageism. The book places the discussion of racism within the contemporary discussions of the War on Terror TM and the allied issues of Islamaphobia TM and the New Antisemitism TM excavating the many elements involved including the media and the State using case studies from across the world to highlight these. The final section focuses on the challenges in developing a discourse on anti racism as well as presents strategies towards a platform for action.

Reconfiguring Identities and Building Territories in India and South Africa Philippe Gervais-Lambony, Frédéric Landy, Sophie Oldfield, 2005 Published in association with Centre de Sciences Humaines New Delhi. Questions of territory space and identity are critically important in the international geopolitical context as well as central to contemporary research in the social sciences. Processes connected with globalization have reconfigured identities and territories at multiple scales connecting and disconnecting places in complex ways and re-enforcing old while producing new forms of segregation and polarisation. Global processes meet the complex and locally specific South African and Indian geographies of inequality expressed at national regional and local scale. In the South African case a political imperative to transform the legacies of racial inequality from colonial and apartheid rule underscores the centrality of racial identities. However racial discourse and differentiation embodies and at times masks a complex mix of place based gender class and cultural identities expressed in a multi-scalar politics of territory. Over 50 years into independent rule Indian identity politics continues to build to a large extent on caste and the intricate ways in which caste affiliation merges with religious socio economic political and place based identities In both contexts the politics of identity and territory simultaneously unify and divide The spaces territories and identities re produced in the complex contexts in which the global national regional and local meet lie at the heart of the research from which the papers in this book have been generated The research investigated the reconfiguration of Indian and South African identities and territories through dialogue primarily between geographers but also other social scientists from India South Africa and France
