A MULTIDISCIPLINARY EXAMINATION

Most books on the subject of violence are viewed as professional disciplinary writings, with little attempt being made to draw an understanding from the insights derived. A CONTEMPORARY VIOLENCE is written for the lay intellectual without and within the social sciences who will find in this book a new subject. It is also useful as the interdisciplinary studies, peace studies, public administration, medicine and law and legislation often are faced with contemporary governmental programs, individual differences and conditions, and will have to recognize that the common ground is a right of humanity for which violence and non-violence, political violence, terrorism, and other violence are not the only solutions to the problems of justice.

Topics include:

- Cultural considerations
- Psychological aspects of violence
- Violence in social change
- Types of violence
- Violence, justice, and individual and society
- Psychological aspects of human violence
- Psychological and social violence
- Violence in the modern world
- Violence in the modern world
- Violence in the modern world
