Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory Irene Rima Makaryk, 1993-01-01 The last half of the twentieth century has seen the emergence of literary theory as a new discipline As with any body of scholarship various schools of thought exist and sometimes conflict within it I R Makaryk has compiled a welcome guide to the field Accessible and jargon free the Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory provides lucid concise explanations of myriad approaches to literature that have arisen over the past forty years Some 170 scholars from around the world have contributed their expertise to this volume Their work is organized into three parts In Part I forty evaluative essays examine the historical and cultural context out of which new schools of and approaches to literature arose The essays also discuss the uses and limitations of the various schools and the key issues they address Part II focuses on individual theorists It provides a more detailed picture of the network of scholars not always easily pigeonholed into the categories of Part I This second section analyses the individual achievements as well as the influence of specific scholars and places them in a larger critical context Part III deals with the vocabulary of literary theory It identifies significant complex terms places them in context and explains their origins and use Accessibility is a key feature of the work By avoiding jargon providing mini bibliographies and cross referencing throughout Makaryk has provided an indispensable tool for literary theorists and historians and for all scholars and students of contemporary criticism and culture

The Character of Truth Naomi Jacobs, 1990 Can the novel survive in an age when tales of historical figures and contemporary personalities dominate the reading lists of the book buying public Naomi Jacobs addresses this question in a study of writers such as William Styron E L Doctorow and Robert Coover who challenge the dominance of nonfiction by populating their fictions with real people living and dead Jacobs explores the genesis varieties and implications of this trend in a prose as lively as that of the writers she critiques Using as a case study Robert Coover's portrait of Richard Nixon in The Public Burning Jacobs addresses the important legal and ethical questions raised by this trend and applies contemporary libel law to the fictionalization of living people such as Richard Nixon She closes her study by speculating on the future of this device and of the novel LITERARY ALLUSION AND REFERENCE IN CONTEMPORARY AMERICAN LITERATURE. Current Literature, 1889 White on Black John Cullen Gruesser, 1992 For white readers and writers Africa was long the Dark Continent land of Tarzan and of Kurtz In White on Black John Gruesser delineates shifts in the perception and portrayal of Africa over the past half century By the beginning of the twentieth century three traditions of writing about Africa had been firmly established the political assessment the expatriate and the fantasy traditions Non black fiction and travel writing about the continent since World War II comprises three generations that descend directly from these traditions and a fourth category that deliberately avoids them After World War II writers such as Evelyn Waugh Graham Greene and Saul Bellow largely ignored the political changes occurring in the twilight of colonialism These authors exhibited little deviation from the traditions that reached their acme as much as 60 years earlier in the works of Winston Churchill Joseph Conrad and Edgar Rice Burroughs By the 1970s V S Naipaul Paul Theroux and John Updike were more openly political than their predecessors but their works for the most part represented adjustments to postcolonial conditions Gruesser gives the first extended critical attention accorded in print to the work of writers of the 1980s including J G Ballard Maria Thomas Helen Winternitz and Jonathan Raban These writers consciously acknowledged and actively worked to subvert established traditions More recent novels by William Boyd T Coraghessan Boyle Peter Dickinson and William Duggan have gone further focusing on the anomalies in the West's relationship with Africa and indicating an awareness that in order to render Africa more accurately history itself must be rewritten
