Architecture and the Modern Hospital Julie Willis, Philip Goad, Cameron Logan, 2018-10-09 More than any other building type in the twentieth century the hospital was connected to transformations in the health of populations and expectations of lifespan From the scale of public health to the level of the individual the architecture of the modern hospital has reshaped knowledge about health and disease and perceptions of bodily integrity and security However the rich and genuinely global architectural history of these hospitals is poorly understood and largely forgotten This book explores the rapid evolution of hospital design in the twentieth century analysing the ways in which architects and other specialists reimagined the modern hospital It examines how the vast expansion of medical institutions over the course of the century was enabled by new approaches to architectural design and it highlights the emerging political conviction that physical health would become the cornerstone of human welfare

Contemporary Architects Ann Lee Morgan, Colin Naylor, 1987 To strengthen the contemporary focus of this volume we have added about forty architects and have deleted some whose activity ceased before World War II In making these decisions we have been assisted by an Advisory Board As in the first volume we have continued to define the word architect very broadly so as to include planners theorists structural engineers and landscape architects whose work seems to be central to the enterprise of creating habitable spaces in our day Editor's note

Australian Architecture Now Davina Jackson, Chris Johnson, 2000 Having just completed the most significant five year construction phase in the nation's history Australian architecture has moved into the world spotlight During the 1994-99 boom creative vigor was palpable confidence surged and the entire continent became endowed with a new sense of architectural independence Because it scans a diverse and momentary scene instead of recording a longer continuum of major achievements Australian Architecture Now is an unusual history book It presents two essays 21 case studies of outstanding public and domestic projects and in several brief chapters compares selected buildings according to similarities of either genre or style Close examination reveals surprising evidence that Australian architecture more often reflects the personal styles and attitudes of its creators than the poetic ideal of a unique sense of place Architects featured include Denton Corker Marshall Harry Seidler Gabriel Poole Rex Addison Peter Stutchbury Cox Sanderson Ness Nonda Katsalidis Sean Godsell Alexander Tzannes and more
