Contested Citizenship Immigration And Cultural Diversity In Europe:

Contested Citizenship Ruud Koopmans, 2005 From international press coverage of the French government's attempt to prevent Muslims from wearing headscarves to terrorist attacks in Madrid and the United States questions of cultural identity and pluralism are at the center of the world's most urgent events and debates Presenting an unprecedented wealth of empirical research garnered during ten years of a cross cultural project Contested Citizenship addresses these fundamental issues by comparing collective actions by migrants xenophobes and antiracists in Germany Britain France the Netherlands and Switzerland Revealing striking cross national differences in how immigration and diversity are contended by different national governments these authors find that how citizenship is constructed is the key variable defining the experience of Europe's immigrant populations Contested Citizenship provides nuanced policy recommendations and challenges the truism that multiculturalism is always good for immigrants Even in an age of European integration and globalization the state remains a critical actor in determining what points of view are sensible and realistic and legitimate in society Ruud Koopmans is professor of sociology at Free University Amsterdam Paul Statham is reader in political communications at the University of Leeds Marco Giugni is a researcher and teacher of political science at the University of Geneva Florence Passy is assistant professor of political science at the University of Lausanne Switzerland

Review Symposium: Contested Citizenship: Immigration and Cultural Diversity in Europe by Ruud Koopmans, Paul Statham, Marco Guigni and Florence Passy (published 2005, Pbk/hbk). Ewald Engelen, 2008 Muslims in Europe Paul Statham, Jean

Tillie, 2018-10-18 Atrocities by terrorists acting in the name of the Islamic State are occurring with increasing regularity across Western Europe Often the perpetrators are home grown which places the relationship between Muslims and the countries in which they live under intense political and media scrutiny and raises questions about the success of the integration of Muslims of migrant origin At the same time populist politicians try to shift the blame from the few perpetrators to the supposed characteristics of all Muslims as a group by depicting Islam as a threat that seeks to undermine liberal democratic values and institutions The research in this volume attempts to redress the balance by focusing on the views and life experiences of the many ordinary Muslims in their European societies of settlement and the role that cultural and religious factors play in shaping their social relationships with majority populations and public institutions The book is specifically interested in the relationship between cultural religious distance and social factors that shape the life chances of Muslims relative to the majority The study is cross national comparative across the six main receiving countries with distinct approaches to the accommodation of Muslims France Germany Britain the Netherlands Belgium and Switzerland The research is based on the findings of a survey of four groups of Muslims from distinct countries of origin Turkey Morocco the former Yugoslavia and Pakistan as well as majority populations in each of the receiving countries This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies Handbook of Citizenship and Migration Marco

Giugni, Maria Grasso, 2021-06-25 Taking an integrated approach this unique Handbook places the terms citizenship and migration on an equal footing examining how they are related to each other both conceptually and empirically Migrant

Integration in a Changing Europe Roxana Barbulescu, 2019-02-28 In this rich study Roxana Barbulescu examines the transformation of state led immigrant integration in two relatively new immigration countries in Western Europe Italy and Spain The book is comparative in approach and seeks to explain states immigrant integration strategies across national regional and city level decision and policy making Barbulescu argues that states pursue no one size fits all strategy for the integration of migrants but rather simultaneously pursue multiple strategies that vary greatly for different groups Two main integration strategies stand out The first one targets non European citizens and is assimilationist in character and based on interventionist principles according to which the government actively pursues the inclusion of migrants The second strategy targets EU citizens and is a laissez faire scenario where foreigners enjoy rights and live their entire lives in the host country without the state or the local authorities seeking their integration The empirical material in the book dating from 1985 to 2015 includes systematic analyses of immigration laws integration policies and guidelines historical documents original interviews with policy makers and statistical analysis based on data from the European Labor Force Survey While the book draws on evidence from Italy and Spain in an effort to bring these case studies to the core of fundamental debates on immigration and citizenship studies its broader aim is to contribute to a better understanding of state interventionism in immigrant integration in contemporary Europe The book will be a useful text for students and scholars of global immigration integration citizenship European integration and European society and culture Imagining Europe Henry T. Edmondson

Arjun Tremblay, Paul May, 2024-11-13 This book sets out to provide a clearer picture of the movement and directionality of polyethnic rights or immigrant centered multiculturalism as it is more commonly known following recent shifts to the left in government i.e. victories of left parties inclusion of left parties in coalition governments increase in left parties presence in parliament defeat of far right parties and right wing populists In so doing it aims to
