Urban Growth and Land Degradation in Developing Cities Roy Maconachie, 2016-02-11 The peri urban interface in poor countries is frequently an area of great dynamism and a focus of competition for basic resources In Nigeria peri urban livelihood strategies have become an increasingly important survival mechanism in the context of rapid urban growth This book uses an innovative combination of methodologies from both the natural and social sciences to examine recent developments in and around the city of Kano in northern Nigeria and in doing so provides insights into the sustainability of these livelihood strategies Identifying some of the most significant forces that are currently shaping the process of peri urban change it argues that despite the adoption of creative and ingenious strategies by many farmers urban growth is having a considerable effect on the livelihood resilience of individuals households and communities The findings presented in this book have much wider relevance and are transferable to other burgeoning Third World cities where increased pressures on urban hinterlands have intensified contests amongst various actors made access to resources much more difficult and made traditional smallholder mechanisms of adaptation and resilience increasingly challenging

The Miombo in Transition Bruce Morgan Campbell, 1996-01-01 Miombo woodlands and their use overview and key issues The ecology of miombo woodlands Population biology of miombo tree Miombo woodlands in the wider context macro economic and inter sectoral influences Rural households and miombo woodlands use value and management Trade in woodland products from the miombo region Managing miombo woodland Institutional arrangements governing the use and the management of miombo woodlands Miombo woodlands and rural livelihoods options and opportunities

Combating Desertification in Asia, Africa and the Middle East G. Ali Heshmati, Victor R. Squires, 2013-07-01 This book is about the how of desertification control as opposed to an analysis of the why and fills a gap in the desertification related literature in that it shows what to do in situations ranging from fixing mobile sands to arresting accelerated soil erosion in sloping lands There are numerous illustrations to show the successful techniques This compilation demonstrates that desertification and land degradation can be controlled and reversed with existing techniques in such widely varying environments as the Sahel of Africa to Sri Lanka and the Philippines in SE Asia from mountains in Lesotho to low lands on desert margins in Mongolia Proven approaches include technical interventions changes in governance and to the legislative framework and policy reform The book fills a gap in the desertification related literature in that it shows what to do in situations ranging from fixing mobile sands to arresting accelerated soil erosion in sloping lands

Human Impact on Environment and Sustainable Development in Africa Michael B.K. Darkoh, 2018-12-20 This title was first published in 2003 Based on a blend of knowledge and perspectives from a variety of disciplines this volume examines the human environment interaction in Africa with a focus on the economic social and political processes that generate environmental change and problems in this region Currently there are controversies over and challenges to such concepts and issues as environment human relationships ecological resilience decertification sustainable development globalization and North South dialogue This book draws upon past and present research findings to discuss these issues It features an examination of the characteristics processes and patterns of environmental crises an analysis of the principal issues and challenges facing policy makers and implementers and the promotion of awareness of theoretical empirical and comparative research The volume not only seeks to answer some of the old questions but also open up new ones for further discussion Environmental Science for Environmental Management Timothy

O'Riordan,2014-10-13 Environmental Science for Environmental Management has quickly established itself as the leading introduction to environmental science demonstrating how a more environmental science can create an effective approach to environmental management on different spatial scales Since publication of the first edition environmentalism has become an increasing concern on the global political agenda Following the Rio Conference and meetings on population social justice women urban settlement and oceans civil society has increasingly promoted the cause of a more radical agenda ranging from rights to know fair trade social empowerment social justice and civil rights for the oppressed as well as novel forms of accounting and auditing This new edition is set in the context of a changing environmentalism and a challenged science It builds on the popularity and applicability of the first edition and has been fully revised and updated by the existing writing team from the internationally renowned School of Environmental Science at the University of East Anglia Environmental Science for Environmental Management is an essential text for for undergraduate students of environmental science environmental management planning and geography It is invaluable supplementary reading for environmental biology and environmental chemistry courses as well as for engineering economics and business studies Does Land Degradation

Matter? Peter Kinlund,1996 KANO A.I. Tanko,2014-01-29 The study of African language pedagogy and use in the Diaspora was initiated in the 1960s as African countries attained independence from colonial powers In the continent the enthusiasm for the use of indigenous languages and scholarship has remained relatively moderate as scholars are conflicted in their loyalty to imperial languages The attitude towards the use of African languages by African leaders has also hampered scholars efforts to create and sustain the needed visibility for African languages around the world Needless to say the study of African languages is not only critical to the study of language theories but also important in changing Africa s overwhelming reliance on European languages to communicate with each other The reliance has not only affected the politics of the continent but also its economic wellbeing An analysis of the enormous developmental challenges facing the African continent will reveal that many of the economic social political and cultural challenges have major language components It can actually be said that the challenges of development in Africa are either outright language challenges or are language based More significantly at the social level in many parts of the continent African languages are now perceived as inadequate means of communication Language Pedagogy and Language Use in Africa discusses the importance of teaching and using of African languages in the African continent and beyond and provides illustrations of both their direct and indirect use a result of historical and contemporary contacts language planning policies and pedagogical concerns The book contributes to the on going discussion on the pedagogy promotion and use of African languages both on the continent and in the Diaspora     Africa in the New Millennium Georges Nzongola-Ntalaja,2001 The contributions to this Discussion Paper were prepared for a workshop on Africa in the new millennium held in Stockholm in May 2001 The aim was to raise important questions to help contextualise and deal with the problems facing the continent It was an attempt to go below the surface of immediate crises and open up a debate around Africa and its international relations It is hoped that publication of these papers will encourage further debate and contribute towards realizing the goal of African recovery     Abstracts on Tropical Agriculture ,1995     Transition in Southern Africa Henning Melber,Christopher C. Saunders,2001 The 1990s completed a process of transition in Namibia and South Africa that brought formal decolonisation in Africa to an end These two contributions review some aspects of the transformation and complement each other P 4 of cover     A History Under Siege Lowe Börjeson,2004 Lowe Borjeson is a researcher at the Department of Human Geography Stockholm University     Contesting Views and Changing Paradigms Annika Dahlberg,1994     Newsletter Pastoral Development Network (Overseas Development Institute),1995     Nordic Publications Nordic Council of Ministers,1995     Selected Bibliography on the Quality of Life in Botswana Derek J.
