Contextualising Caste Post Dumontian Approaches:

Contextualising Caste Ursula M. Sharma, Mary Searle-Chatterjee, 1995-01-09 Much anthropological and sociological work on South Asia especially work done by western academics takes for granted the centrality of caste in Hindu society The aim of the present volume is to take a critical look at this assumption contextualising caste in relation to other dimensions of modern Indian society The contribution of the volume will be both theoretical and ethnographic Contextualising Caste Mary Searle-Chatterjee, Ursula Sharma, 1994

Popular Democracy and the Politics of Caste Satendra Kumar, 2022-09-21 This book examines the intersection of caste and politics in North India and highlights its contribution to the anthropological study of democracy It argues that the long term process of internalization of democracy within the caste body has fundamentally changed the workings of the Indian party system Drawing on an in depth ethnographic case study of the Gujjars a marginalized caste group in India the book presents a systematic analysis of the political mobilization and culture of political participation of the Other Backward Classes to understand why and how certain caste groups have been more successful in politics than others It discusses various key themes such as popular democracy and the politics of caste regional politics and territoriality myth legends and heroes in the Gujar community the transition from lineage deities to caste deity and the re formation of caste community identity It reveals the symbiotic relationships between religion and caste and shows how religion shapes contemporary caste The book makes an important contribution to the study of marginalised groups and their politicization and fills a significant gap in the political sociology of India It will be useful for scholars and researchers of sociology history exclusion studies Dalit studies political studies history social anthropology and South Asian studies Orientalism and Religion Richard King, 1999 In this text Richard King examines the way in which notions such as mysticism religion Hinduism and Buddhism are taken for granted After Writing Culture Andrew Dawson, Jenny Hockey, Allison James, 2003-12-16 This collection addresses the theme of representation in anthropology Its fourteen articles explore some of the directions in which contemporary anthropology is moving following the questions raised by the writing culture debates of the 1980s It includes discussion of issues such as the concept of caste in Indian society scottish ethnography how dreams are culturally conceptualised representations of the family culture as conservation gardens theme parks and the anthropologist in Japan representation in rural Japan people s place in the landscape of Northern Australia representing identity of the New Zealand Maori The Politics of the Poor in Contemporary India Indrajit Roy, 2018-02 Based on diverse sorts of data and fieldwork in India this book analyses how the poor participate in a democracy Of Poverty and Plastic Kaveri Gill, 2009-10-28 Of Poverty and Plastic applies an interdisciplinary field economics approach to poverty analysis using a mix of survey and ethnographic data to challenge received notions of the nature and extent of narrow income poverty and multiple deprivations experienced by those working in the informal waste recovery and plastic recycling economy of Delhi A detailed analysis of specialization capital and value in various segments of this labour intensive green informal market is undertaken with explicit recognition of its wider social and political institutional context and how it is shaped by unequal interactions with civil society and the state In particular the book focuses on the identity and agency of subordinate scheduled caste groups living literally and metaphorically on the edge of the city in negotiating a decent life in today's neoliberal environment The case studies of the ban on recycled polythene bags and the industrial relocation order illustrate the channels through which these actors collectively seek to resist the perceived anti urban poor status quo driven by powerful middle class coalitions through legislation or judicial fiat with varying degrees of success In doing so the book exposes the complex and at times contrary policy reality binding poverty and deprivation formal and informal markets the state and citizenship in contemporary urban India
