Nitecki,2013-11-11 This volume is based on the Field Museum of Natural History Spring Systematics Symposium held in Chicago on May 11 1991 The financial support of Ray and Jean Auel and of the Field Museum is gratefully acknowledged When we teach or write we present only those elements that support our arguments We avoid all weak points of our debate and all the uncertainties of our models Thus we offer hypotheses as facts Multiauthored books like ours which simultaneously advocate and question diverse views avoid the pitfalls and lessen the impact of indoctrination In this volume we analyze the anthropological and biological disagreements and the positions taken on the origins of modern humans point out difficulties with the interpretations and suggest that the concept of the human origin can be explained only when we first attempt to define Homo sapiens sapiens One of the major controversies in physical anthropology concerns the geographic origin of anatomically modern humans It is undisputed due to the extensive research of the Leakeys and their colleagues that the family Hominidae originated in Africa but the geographic origin of Homo sapiens sapiens is less concretely accepted Two schools of thought exist on this topic      Origin And Past Of Modern Humans As Viewed From Dna, The: Proceedings Of The Workshop On The Origin And Past Of Homo Sapiens Sapiens As Viewed From Dna - Theoretical Approach Sydney Brenner,Kazuro Hanihara,1995-05-09 This book surveys the history of automatic vehicle guidance based on the processing of visual information starting from the very first projects worldwide up to the latest developments It also presents the ARGO prototype vehicle developed at the University of Parma Italy and describes its equipment setup and performance ARGO has been equipped with cameras and processing systems to drive autonomously in real traffic conditions The complete system has been tested on public roads during a tour in which ARGO drove itself along the Italian highway network for more than 2000 km A detailed analysis of this trip is also included      The Evolution and Dispersal of Modern Humans in Asia Takeru Akazawa,Kenichi Aoki,Tasuku Kimura,1992      A Companion to

Structure and Contingency John L. Bintliff,1999 The theme of this book is the appropriate methodology for the study of the history of life on earth In particular it focuses on the interplay between form and structure the things that we might predict and model and the things we cannot predict the arbitrary and the contingent which may be as important or even more important than the way in which life on earth has evolved The contributors are drawn from palaeontology archaeology anthropology and human evolution the timescales covered are from the development of life on earth through human evolution to later prehistory and historic archaeology Underpinning the theme of the book is the work of Stephen Jay Gould who has developed a distinctive philosophy of history concerning the nature of long term and short term evolutionary processes particularly stressing the interplay between structure and contingency

African Foragers Sibel Barut Kusimba,2003 Foraging bands were the quintessential form of human social organization for most of prehistory Current arguments rage on the genesis of the contemporary descendants of these hunter gatherers and their applicability to our understanding of lifeways before agriculture and domestication of animals Sibel Barut Kusimba addresses this debate by synthesizing the archaeological evidence in Africa from the Middle Stone Age to the present where the greatest time depth of foraging cultures can be traced She develops a comprehensive picture of these foundational human societies their social and technological adaptations to environmental conditions and the impact of interaction from later economic systems on their lifeways The book should be of importance to both cultural and archaeological anthropologists and their students      New Perspectives on Evolution

Leonard Warren, Hilary Koprowski, 1991-03-15 The Wistar Symposium Series Volume 4 New Perspectives on Evolution Proceedings of a multidisciplinary symposium designed to interrelate recent discoveries and new insights in the field of evolution held at the University of Pennsylvania April 18 and 19 1990 Sponsored by The Wistar Institute Philadelphia Pennsylvania Edited by Leonard Warren and Hilary Koprowski During the past two and a half decades astonishing advances have been made in our knowledge and understanding of evolution New Perspectives on Evolution reflects these developments in a broad ranging work Rather than selecting one or a few aspects of evolution for discussion the book offers a panoramic view of the field Within this comprehensive format it spotlights the spectacular contributions of molecular biology virology immunology and protein and nucleic acid chemistry The book displays how progress in these fields has greatly advanced our understanding of the evolutionary process New Perspectives on Evolution offers authoritative contributions from an illustrious group of experts The book opens with an historical perspective of the field written by one of the great formulators of our present notions about evolution Then contributors explain how the giant strides made in molecular approaches to gene and DNA technology permit the study of interspecies relationships The power of these approaches could never have been imagined by Darwin With its inclusive view and insightful information on progress in evolutionary knowledge and theory New Perspectives on Evolution will particularly interest and enlighten cellular molecular and developmental biologists as well as geneticists zoologists sociologists and ecologists In general this provocative work will interest all investigators in the biological sciences      The Origins of Language Barbara J. King, 1999-11-17 In The Origins of Language ten primatologists and paleoanthropologists conduct a comprehensive examination of the nonhuman primate data discussing different views of what language is and suggesting how the primatological perspective can be used to fashion more rigorous theories of language origins and evolution      The South African Archaeological Bulletin , 1993
