Understanding the Working College Student Laura W. Perna, 2023-07-14 How appropriate for today and for the future are the policies and practices of higher education that largely assume a norm of traditional age students with minimal on campus or no work commitments Despite the fact that work is a fundamental part of life for nearly half of all undergraduate students with a substantial number of traditional dependent undergraduates in employment and working independent undergraduates averaging 34.5 hours per week little attention has been given to how working influences the integration and engagement experiences of students who work especially those who work full time or how the benefits and costs of working differ between traditional age students and adult students The high and increasing prevalence and intensity of working among both dependent and independent students raises a number of important questions for public policymakers college administrators faculty academic advisors student services and financial aid staff and institutional and educational researchers including Why do so many college students work so many hours What are the characteristics of undergraduates who work What are the implications of working for students educational experiences and outcomes And how can public and institutional policymakers promote the educational success of undergraduate students who work This book offers the most complete and comprehensive conceptualization of the working college student available It provides a multi faceted picture of the characteristics experiences and challenges of working college students and a more complete understanding of the heterogeneity underlying the label undergraduates who work and the implications of working for undergraduate students educational experiences and outcomes The volume stresses the importance of recognizing the value and contribution of adult learners to higher education and takes issue with the appropriateness of the term non traditional itself both because of the prevalence of this group and because it allows higher education institutions to avoid considering changes that will meet the needs of this population including changes in course offerings course scheduling financial aid and pedagogy Blackwell's Five-Minute Veterinary Practice Management Consult Lowell Ackerman, 2013-10-28 Blackwell's Five Minute Veterinary Practice Management Consult Second Edition has been extensively updated and expanded with 55 new topics covering subjects such as online technologies hospice care mobile practices compassion fatigue practice profitability and more Carefully formatted using the popular Five Minute Veterinary Consult style the book offers fast access to authoritative information on all aspects of practice management This Second Edition is an essential tool for running a practice increasing revenue and managing staff in today's veterinary practice Addressing topics ranging from client communication and management to legal issues financial management and human resources the book is an invaluable resource for business management advice applicable to veterinary practice Sample forms and further resources are now available on a companion website Veterinarians and practice managers alike will find this book a comprehensive yet user friendly guide for success in today's challenging business environment Putting Poor People to Work Kathleen M. comprehensive interviews with government officials and sophisticated data from six states over a four year period Putting Poor People to Work shows how recent changes in public policy have reduced the quantity and quality of education and training available to adults to low incomes The authors analyze how two policies encouraging work the federal welfare reform law of 1996 and the Workforce Investment Act of 1998 have made moving people off of public assistance as soon as possible a government priority with little regard to their long term career prospects Putting Poor People to Work shows that since the passage of these work first laws not only are fewer low income individuals pursuing postsecondary education but when they do they are increasingly directed toward the most ineffective short term forms of training rather than higher quality college level education Moreover the schools most able and ready to serve poor adults the community colleges are deterred by these policies from doing so BOOK JACKET Works and Days ,2005 Digital learning innovations in education in response to the COVID-19 pandemic Lucas Kohnke,Mark Bedoya Ulla,Haoran Xie,2023-04-13 Creating the Social Venture Susan Coleman,Dafna Kariv,2015-08-20 Social entrepreneurship is a growing area and we frequently hear of new ventures committed to social change In academia however social entrepreneurship has typically been taught as a version of entrepreneurship ignoring the unique structure challenges and goals of the social venture In their new book Coleman and Kariv draw on the latest theory and research to provide boundaries to the definition of social entrepreneurship discussing both what it is and what it is not The book answers several key questions Who are social entrepreneurs What is the process for identifying and solving a social need What are the differences between for profit and not for profit social ventures What is the role of innovation How do we develop high performing firms How do we measure success The focus on context allows students to appreciate how social entrepreneurship develops and operates in different countries and cultures lending a global perspective to the book Combined with rich pedagogy and a companion website it provides students with all the learning tools they need to grasp this important subject Forecast ,1925 Cornell University Announcements Cornell University,1923 Wallaces' Farmer and Dairyman ,1924 Nature Sir Norman Lockyer,1921 Annual Report of the President of the University on Behalf of the Regents to His Excellency the Governor of the State of California University of California, Berkeley,1920 Radio Amateur News ,1919 Yale Alumni Weekly ,1910 The Yale Alumni Weekly ,1911 Annual Report of the President of the University on Behalf of the Regents to His Excellency the Governor of the State of California University of California (1868-1952).
