Postcolonial Theory and the United States Amritjit Singh, Peter Schmidt, 2009-11-12 At the beginning of the twenty first century we may be in a transnational moment increasingly aware of the ways in which local and national narratives in literature and elsewhere cannot be conceived apart from a radically new sense of shared human histories and global interdependence To think transnationally about literature history and culture requires a study of the evolution of hybrid identities within nation states and diasporic identities across national boundaries Studies addressing issues of race ethnicity and empire in US culture have provided some of the most innovative and controversial contributions to recent scholarship

Postcolonial Theory and the United States Race Ethnicity and Literature represents a new chapter in the emerging dialogues about the importance of borders on a global scale This book collects nineteen essays written in the 1990s in this emergent field by both well established and up and coming scholars Almost all the essays have been either especially written for this volume or revised for inclusion here These essays are accessible well focused resources for college and university students and their teachers displaying both historical depth and theoretical finesse as they attempt close and lively readings The anthology includes more than one discussion of each literary tradition associated with major racial or ethnic communities Such a gathering of diverse complementary and often competing viewpoints provides a good introduction to the cultural differences and commonalities that comprise the United States today The volume opens with two essays by the editors first a survey of the ideas in the individual pieces and second a long essay that places current debates in US ethnicity and race studies within both the history of American studies as a whole and recent developments in postcolonial theory

Literary Theory: The Basics Hans Bertens, 2024-06-28 Now in its fourth edition Literary Theory The Basics is an essential guide to the complicated and often confusing world of literary theory Readers will encounter a broad range of topics from Marxist and feminist criticism to postmodernism queer studies and ecocriticism Literary Theory The Basics shows in an always lucid and accessible style how literary theory and practice are connected and considers key theories and approaches including humanist criticism structuralist and poststructuralist theory postcolonial theory posthumanism ecocriticism and animal studies digital humanities and print culture studies Literary theory has much to say about the wider world of humanities and beyond and this guide helps readers to approach the many theories and debates with confidence Expanded with updates throughout this is the go to guide for understanding literary theory today

An Anthology of Colonial and Postcolonial Short Fiction Dean R. Baldwin, Patrick J. Quinn, 2007 Focusing on short stories from both the former British colonies and Great Britain itself An Anthology of Colonial and Postcolonial Short Fiction presents a fascinating cross section of writing in English a literature politicized by the experience of colonization Great short stories from Ireland Canada the Caribbean India Pakistan Africa Australia and New Zealand demonstrate the diversity of the postcolonial experience around the world from the late nineteenth century to the present Also including rich background materials and thorough explanatory footnotes to help students read these stories with an informed eye this anthology is a must for any student interested in world literature in general and postcolonial literature in particular Book jacket

Eating and Identity in Postcolonial Fiction Paul Vlitos, 2018-10-11 This book focuses on the fiction of four postcolonial authors V S Naipaul Anita Desai Timothy Mo and Salman Rushdie It argues that meals in their novels act as sites where the relationships between the individual subject and the social identities of race class and gender are enacted Drawing upon a variety of academic fields and disciplines including postcolonial theory historical research food studies and recent attempts to rethink the concept of world literature it dedicates a chapter to each author tracing the literary cultural and historical contexts in which their texts are located and exploring the ways in which food and the act of eating acquire meanings and how those meanings might clash collide and be disputed Not only does this book offer suggestive new readings of the work of its four key authors but it challenges the reader to consider the significance of food in postcolonial fiction more generally

Imagology Manfred Beller, Joseph Theodoor Leerssen, 2007 How do national stereotypes emerge To which extent are they determined by historical or ideological circumstances or else by cultural literary or discursive conventions This first inclusive critical compendium on national characterizations and national cultural or ethnic stereotypes contains 120 articles by 73 contributors Its three parts offer 1 a number of in depth survey articles on ethnic and national images in European literatures and cultures over many centuries 2 an encyclopedic survey of the stereotypes and characterizations traditionally ascribed to various ethnicities and nationalities and 3 a conspectus of relevant concepts in various cultural fields and scholarly disciplines The volume as a whole as well as each of the articles has extensive bibliographies for further critical reading Imagology is intended both for students and for senior scholars facilitating not only a first acquaintance with the historical development typology and poetics of national stereotypes but also a deepening of our understanding and analytical perspective by interdisciplinary and comparative contextualization and extensive cross referencing Post-Colonial Literatures Deborah L. Madsen, 1999-06-20 The book explores what characterises a good life and how this idea has been affected by globalisation and neoliberalism Commonwealth and Post-colonial Literatures John Thieme, 2000

Interdisciplinary Conference on Gender and Colonialism, 1997 The Longman Anthology of British Literature: The Romantics and their contemporaries David Damrosch, 1999 The Longman Compact Anthology of British Literature is a concise and thoughtfully arranged survey of British literature Within its pages canonical authors mingle with newly visible writers English accents are heard next to Anglo Norman Welsh Gaelic and Scottish ones female and male voices are set in dialogue literature from the British Isles is integrated with post colonial writing and major works are illuminated by clusters of shorter texts that bring literary social and historical issues vividly to life Readers interested in British Literature The Journal of Commonwealth Literature, 2003 One number each year includes Annual bibliography of Commonwealth literature

Modern Chinese Literature, 1998 Postcolonial Theory, 1999 Ordinary Enchantments Wendy B. Faris, 2004 Ordinary Enchantments investigates magical realism as the most important trend in contemporary international fiction defines its characteristics and narrative techniques and proposes a new theory to explain its significance In the most comprehensive critical treatment of this literary mode to date Wendy B Faris discusses a rich array of examples from magical realist novels around the world including the work not only of Latin American writers like Gabriel Garcia Marquez but also of authors like Salman Rushdie Gunter Grass Toni Morrison and Ben Okri Faris argues that by combining realistic representation with fantastic elements so that the marvelous seems to grow organically out of the ordinary magical realism destabilizes the dominant form of realism based on empirical definitions of reality gives it visionary power and thus constitutes what might be called a remystification of narrative in the West Noting the radical narrative heterogeneity of magical realism the author compares its cultural role to that of traditional shamanic performance which joins the worlds of daily life and that of the spirits Because of that capacity to bridge different worlds magical realism has served as an effective decolonizing agent providing the ground for marginal voices submerged traditions and emergent literatures to develop and create masterpieces At the same time this process is not limited to postcolonial situations but constitutes a global trend that replenishes realism from within In addition to describing what many consider to be the progressive cultural work of magical realism Faris also confronts the recent accusation that magical realism and its study as a global phenomenon can be seen as a form of commodification and an imposition of cultural homogeneity And finally drawing on the narrative innovations and cultural scenarios that magical realism enacts she extends those principles toward issues of gender and the possibility of a female element within magical realism
