The Powhatan Landscape Martin D. Gallivan,2018-09-17 Southern Anthropological Society James Mooney Award As Native American history is primarily studied through the lens of European contact the story of Virginia s Powhatans has traditionally focused on the English arrival in the Chesapeake This has left a deeper indigenous history largely unexplored a longer narrative beginning with the Algonquians construction of places communities and the connections in between The Powhatan Landscape breaks new ground by tracing Native placemaking in the Chesapeake from the Algonquian arrival to the Powhatan s clashes with the English Martin Gallivan details how Virginia Algonquians constructed riverine communities alongside fishing grounds and collective burials and later within horticultural towns Ceremonial spaces including earthwork enclosures within the center place of Werowocomoco gathered people for centuries prior to 1607 Even after the violent ruptures of the colonial era Native people returned to riverine towns for pilgrimages commemorating the enduring power of place For today s American Indian communities in the Chesapeake this reexamination of landscape and history represents a powerful basis from which to contest narratives and policies that have previously denied their existence A volume in the series Society and Ecology in Island and Coastal Archaeology edited by Victor D Thompson Rule by Numbers U. Kalpagam,2014-08-20 This book examines aspects of the production of statistical knowledge as part of colonial governance in India using Foucault s ideas of governmentality The modern state is distinctive for its bureaucratic organization official procedures and accountability that in the colonial context of governing at a distance instituted a vast system of recordation bearing semblance to and yet differing markedly from the Victorian administrative state The colonial rule of difference that shaped liberal governmentality introduced new categories of rule that were nested in the procedures and records and could be unraveled from the archive of colonial governance Such an exercise is attempted here for certain key epistemic categories such as space time measurement classification and causality that have enabled the constitution of modern knowledge and the social scientific discourses of economy society and history The different chapters engage with how enumerative technologies of rule led to proliferating measurements and classifications as fields and objects came within the purview of modern governance rendering both statistical knowledge and also new ways of acting on objects and new discourses of governance and the nation The postcolonial implications of colonial governmentality are examined with respect to both planning techniques for attainment of justice and the role of information in the constitution of neoliberal subjects
