Color Of Teaching:

The Colors of Excellence Pearl Rock Kane, Alfonso J. Orsini, 2003 This book features the findings of a 5 year study on independent schools alongside personal stories by teachers and students of color It analyzes teacher diversity in 11 independent schools and includes a list of provocative questions to help schools evaluate their own progress It includes specific guidelines to help educators close the faculty diversity gap in their schools The intended outcome is an enhanced understanding of ways that independent schools can attract and retain greater numbers of teachers of color The Color of Teaching June Gordon, 2002-11 Looks at the key reasons why students of color are not entering teaching Containing interviews with over 200 persons of color this book will enable us to understand the cultural political and historical forces discouraging teachers

The Color of Teaching June A. Gordon, 2000 One of the major concerns in education at present is how to recruit and attract more teachers from ethnic minorities In an attempt to move beyond the superficial and simplistic responses as to why these students are not entering teaching this book presents in depth interviews with over two hundred people from four ethnic groups African Americans Native Americans Asian Americans and Latinos These interviewees many of them teachers or education professionals express their attitude towards teaching and their understanding of why others may not choose teaching as a career One of the most significant and surprising findings is that regardless of academic or socio economic standing students from these ethnic groups tend not to be encouraged to enter the teaching profession by their own families communities and peers The book concludes with a discussion of programmatic changes and calls for the reconceptualization of the role of teachers Such changes can only arise out of a fundamental change in attitude of communities of color towards teaching which must be led by teachers themselves

Color in the School-room Milton Bradley, 1890 Color, Race, and English Language Teaching Andy Curtis, Mary Romney, 2019-08-07 The unique contribution of this book is to bring together Critical Race Theory and narrative inquiry and apply them specifically to a largely overlooked area of experience within the field of TESOL What does it mean to be a TESOL professional of color To address this question TESOL professionals of color from all over the world representing a wide range of racial ethnic and cultural backgrounds offer accounts of their own experiences responding to two related questions Can you identify critical events or conditions in your personal or professional life that are the result of you being a person of color that affect who you are now and what you do as a TESOL professional of color What have you learned from these events or conditions that have had a bearing on your life as a TESOL professional of color Color Race and English Language Teaching Shades of Meaning is intended for researchers professionals and students in the field of English language teaching The book is designed as a text for MATESOL programs and courses that deal with issues of language culture and teaching The introduction presents a brief overview of relevant aspects of Critical Race Theory narrative inquiry and educational research Focus questions for each chapter are included to help readers apply aspects of the narratives to their own experience Color in the School-Room

Milton Bradley, 2017-11-23 Excerpt from Color in the School Room A Manual for Teachers In teaching color to young children there is a great difference of opinion as to methods just as there is a difference of opinion regarding all other branches of education at the present time Indeed color teaching as a systematic branch of primary education is in its infancy consequently each educator with positive ideas on the subject ought to give a fair consideration to the opinion of all others who have experience in general education and interest enough in this branch to devote to it any considerable thought About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The American Teacher ,1891 Change(d) Agents Betty Achinstein, Rodney T. Ogawa, 2015-04-24

This book examines both the promises and complexities of racially and culturally diversifying today's teaching profession Drawing from a 5 year study of the lives of 21 new teachers of color working in urban hard to staff schools this book documents the tensions these teachers experience between serving as role models and fulfilling district and state mandates

Color Education in the Interior Design Curriculum , Circular of Information of the Bureau of Education, for ... ,1884 Elementary Color Milton Bradley, 1895 The intent of this book is to offer for primary school teachers a clear and condensed explanation of the Bradley System of Color Instruction This system relies on Maxwell rotating color disks to determine and define pigmentary standards Education ,1882 Normal Instructor and Teachers World ,1928
