Color Of Love:

The Color of Love Elizabeth Hordge-Freeman, 2015-10-30 The Color Of Love reveals the power of racial hierarchies to infiltrate our most intimate relationships Delving far deeper than previous sociologists have into the black Brazilian experience Elizabeth Hordge Freeman examines the relationship between racialization and the emotional life of a family Based on interviews and a sixteen month ethnography of ten working class Brazilian families this provocative work sheds light on how families simultaneously resist and reproduce racial hierarchies Examining race and gender Hordge Freeman illustrates the privileges of whiteness by revealing how those with blacker features often experience material and emotional hardships From parental ties to sibling interactions to extended family and romantic relationships the chapters chart new territory by revealing the connection between proximity to whiteness and the distribution of affection within families Hordge Freeman also explores how black Brazilian families particularly mothers rely on diverse strategies that reproduce negotiate and resist racism She frames efforts to modify racial features as sometimes reflecting internalized racism and at other times as responding to material and emotional considerations Contextualizing their strategies within broader narratives of the African diaspora she examines how Salvador s inhabitants perceive the history of the slave trade itself in a city that is referred to as the blackest in Brazil She argues that racial hierarchies may orchestrate family relationships in ways that reflect and reproduce racial inequality but black Brazilian families actively negotiate these hierarchies to assert their citizenship and humanity What's the Color of Love!
