Color Of Their Skin

Charles Benedict Davenport, Florence
Harris Danielson

Color Of Their Skin:

By the Color of Our Skin Barbara Diggs-Brown, Leonard Steinhorn, 2000-01-01 While signs of racial progress are everywhere the reality is that America is hardly more integrated than it was before the civil rights movement Beyond the rhetoric of politicians the media and the prevalent symbols of integration lies a very different reality 70 percent of black children attend predominantly black schools and an Hispanic or Asian American with a third grade education is more likely to live in an integrated neighborhood than is a black with a Ph D Fueled by these startling statistics By the Color of Our Skin argues that integration does not exist now that it never had a chance to exist in the past and that it will never exist in the future Leonard Steinhorn and Barbara Diggs Brown would themselves like to see integration become a reality but find through polls statistics interviews and anecdotes that the illusion of integration is more damaging than useful because it keeps society from having an honest dialogue about the problem of race By the Color of Our Skin explodes powerful myths and outlines a new vision of race in America

Why Does My Skin Color Matter? James E. Puckett, 2021-06-22 We all have a past that we sometimes try to forget When a situation arises that reminds us of our past we must not allow it to dictate our future but somehow use our past experiences to propel us to do better As our society deals with issues of racism and hate between people of different races gender and ethnicity groups it brings back memories of my childhood while living as a Black person in the mid 1950s and the 1960s In this book I highlight some of the events I personally experienced others that were told to me by reliable sources and some are fictional to give the reader a snapshot of what it was like being born and living during these times The stories I tell in this book draws the contrast between two small boys of different skin colors and how they didn't allow the color of their skin to affect their friendship and the comparison between two different sets of parents who taught their children to love people of all skin colors and treat others the way you would want to be treated Sometimes our past leaves bruises and wounds that cannot be healed by us alone but with God's help we can heal over time
