Leadership in Community Lee A. Carter, Leadership in Community is a spiritual formation curriculum that engages new or seasoned missional leaders in the foundations of missiology leadership theory and missional leadership practices and tools The curriculum explores three major topics important for missional leadership all of which build upon one another the missiology community and ethics of missional leadership These themes are explored through a spiritual formation practice called Lectio Missio an expansion of Lectio Divina that incorporates missional themes and practices Using Lectio Missio small groups of missional leaders engage in Scripture reading and study prayer conversation meditation journaling reflection and experiential learning These disciplines focus on spiritual formation as the basis of missional leadership training and development

Empire in the New Testament Stanley E. Porter, Cynthia Long Westfall, 2011-01-01 How does a Christian render unto Caesar what is Caesar's and unto God what is God's This book is the result of the Bingham Colloquium of 2007 that brought scholars from across North America to examine the New Testament's response to the empires of God and Caesar Two chapters lay the foundation for that response in the Old Testament's concept of empire and six others address the response to the notion of empire both human and divine in the various authors of the New Testament A final chapter investigates how the church fathers regarded the matter The essays display various methods and positions together however they offer a representative sample of the current state of study of the notion of empire in the New Testament

Reading the Bible After Christendom Lloyd Pietersen, 2011-04-01 Pietersen argues that for too long the Old Testament has been the primary source for Christian ethics and the letters of Paul for Christian discipleship Without disparaging these sources the author suggests that the church in a postmodern post Christian society needs to look at Scripture with a different focus This book seeks to examine what reading the Bible might look like in the current period when the church is no longer central and the Christian story is not well known This is a provocative and refreshing exploration of the possibilities inherent in 15Cn reading Scripture from the margins rather than from within the compromised and rapidly receding structures of Christendom A worthy addition to the challenging After Christendom series Lloyd Pietersen's thoughtful work moves the discussion forward in ways that are at times controversial at other times stretching but at all times constructive Highly recommended Brian Harris Principal Vose Seminary Perth Australia

Journal of Theological Interpretation ,2007 Empire and Apocalypse Stephen D. Moore,2006 In Empire and Apocalypse Stephen Moore offers us the most complete introduction yet to the emergent field of postcolonial biblical criticism It includes an indispensable in depth introduction to postcolonial theory and criticism together with a detailed survey of postcolonial biblical criticism Next come three substantial exegetical chapters on the Gospels of Mark and John and the Book of Revelation which together demonstrate how postcolonial studies provide fresh conceptual resources and critical strategies for rethinking early Christianity's complex relations to the Roman Empire Each of these three texts to different degrees Moore argues mimic and replicate fundamental facets of Roman imperial ideology even while resisting and eroding it The book concludes with an amply annotated bibliography whose main section provides a comprehensive listing of work done to date in postcolonial biblical criticism Narratives of Community Roxanne Harde,2007 Narratives of Community draws together essays that examine short story sequences by women through the lenses of Sandra Zagarell TM's theoretical essay on Narrative of Community Reading texts from countries around the world the collection TM's twenty two contributors expand scholarship on the genre as they employ diverse theoretical models to consider how female identity is negotiated in community or the roles of women in domestic social and literary community Grouped into four sections based on these examinations the essays demonstrate how Zagarell TM's theory can provide a point of reference for multiple approaches to women TM's writing as they read the semiotic systems of community While on narrative of community provides an organizing principle behind this collection these essays offer critical approaches grounded in a wide variety of disciplines Zagarell contributes the collection TM's concluding essay in which she provides a series of reflections on literary and cultural representations of community on generic categorizations of community and on regionalism and narrative of community as she returns to theoretical ground she first broke almost twenty years ago Overall these essays bring their contributors and readers into a community engaged with a narrative genre that inspires and affords a rich and growing tradition of scholarship With Narratives of Community editor Roxanne Harde offers a wealth of critical essays on a wide variety of women's linked series of short stories essays that can be seen overall to explore the genre as a kind of meeting house of fictional form and meaning for an inclusive sororal community The book itself joins a growing critical community of monographs and essay collections that have been critically documenting the rise of the modern genre of the story cycle to a place second only to the novel But more than simply joining this critical venture Narratives of Community makes a major contribution to studies in the short story feminist theory women's studies and genre theory Its introduction and essays should prove of enduring interest to scholars and critics in these fields as well as continue highly useful in the undergraduate and graduate classrooms Gerald Lynch Professor of English University of Ottawa The introduction by Prof Harde and the 20 essays in the book dialogue with Sandra Zagarell's proposed paradigm of narratives of community which other scholars have called short story cycles or story sequences. Zagarell's proposal organically blends a generic model with a thematic concern to explain how women writing community often turn to a particular narrative style that itself supports the literary creation of that community. Harde and the volume contributors appropriate this brilliant and engaging proposal in the context of other crucial discussions of the genre notably Forest Ingram's germinal study, J. Gerald Kennedy's work and those by Robert Luscher, Maggie Dunn and Anne Morris. James Nagel, Gerald Lynch and I am honored to note my own study on Asian American short story cycles to expand the range of the critical discussion on the form. The quality and diversity of the essays remind us that there is still much work that can be done in the area of genre studies. The volume emphasizes an important caveat to one vital misconception that although writers like James Joyce or Sherwood Anderson are thought to be the precursors or even inventors of the form, women's sequences by Sara Orne Jewett and Elizabeth Gaskell among others actually predate the work of the male writers. This fact suggests that the development of the form as a genre that attends to specific perspectives or creative formulations of and by women needs to be considered in depth. The temporal scope of the volume is therefore a vital contribution to scholarship on the form as is the diversity of the writers analyzed. Indeed the examination of narratives by writers from different countries and that focus on characters from different time periods, racial, religious or ethnic communities and social class impels a multilayered reading of the texts that inevitably promotes a nuanced understanding of the project of each of the writers, a project that connects issues of individuality and community in varied and often surprising ways. The essays thus critically explore the notion of community in its myriad associations with the individual and as a crucial site not only for women's action upon the world but also for her creative endeavors. The essays in the volume revisit familiar texts: Naylor's The Women of Brewster Place, Cisneros's The House on Mango Street, Kingston's The Woman Warrior, Welty's The Golden Apples, Munro's The Lives of Girls and Women among others but offer new perspectives on the way form interacts with issues of women's communities and women creating community in these works. Significantly it also offers readings on texts that have not been analyzed in detail from this perspective: Gaskell's Cranford or Woolf's A Haunted House for example, thus contributing to a continuing conversation about the ways women write. The juxtaposition of the familiar and the new expands the paradigms of current criticism not only on the story cycle but also on women's writing in general. Rocio Davis, Professor of Literature, University of Navarre, Roxanne Harde's forthcoming volume Narratives of Community: Women's Short Story Sequences provides an abundant collection of varied responses to Sandra Zagarell's longstanding call for further in-depth exploration of the genre that Zagarell christened the narrative of community in her 1988 essay linking non-novelistic narrative form with representations of female experience. As Harde observes, such narratives of community overlap significantly with the growing canon of unified but discontinuous collections of autonomous stories that critics have variously labeled as the short story.

cycle sequence composite The essays in her collection examine a rich variety of such works by women extending the scholarship in this area Harde TM s ample collection of essays presents a concerted and diverse exploration of the implications of the short story sequence form as a representation of women TM s lives as part of and in conflict with membership in a community Overall Harde TM s volume is a welcome addition to current scholarship on the short story sequence bringing in a variety of new voices and perspectives to the community of scholars who have engaged in the exploration of this paradoxical evolving and increasingly popular genre Dr Luscher The Publishers Weekly ,2004 The Princeton Seminary Bulletin Princeton Theological Seminary,2006 Vols for 1907 1908 1936 1937 no 1 Commencement issue no 2 Necrology report no 3 News no 4 Catalogue v for 1937 1938 1938 1939 no 1 3 News no 2 Bulletin of courses no 4 Catalogue v for 1939 1940 1944 1945 no 1 4 News no 2 Bulletin of courses no 3 Catalogue v for 1945 1946 no 1 Bulletin of courses no 2 4 News no 3 Catalogue v for 1946 1947 1952 1953 no 1 3 4 News no 2 Catalogue Living Together in the Church Greig S. Dunn,Chris Ambidge,2004 The issue of homosexuality prompts us to engage in dialogue with scripture and tradition with contemporary culture and experience and with academic disciplines such as history psychology philosophy and the law the writers of this book suggest new avenues along which dialogue might proceed always focused on Anglicanism s embrace of a wide range of divergent viewpoints that rather than promoting division offers opportunities for respect and reconciliation ABC Philemon Larry J. Kreitzer,Larry Joseph Kreitzer,2008 This latest volume in the Readings series offers a helpful guide to the shortest and arguably the most personal as well as enigmatic of Paul s letters It surveys the range of interpretations put forward over the years and identifies the strengths and weaknesses in the traditional reading of Philemon as addressing the estrangement that has arisen between Paul s friend Philemon and his runaway slave Onesimus Recent alternatives to this reading are assessed with particular attention to the light they shed on Paul s own attitude to slavery and his understanding of reconciliation Historically the Letter to Philemon has been the focus of much debate between abolitionists and pro slavery advocates and the use made of the Letter in the 18th and 19th centuries is here uniquely chronicled In addition the story of Onesimus and Philemon as traditionally conceived had a great appeal to writers of historical fiction and a number of examples of that genre are summarized The book also highlights the way in which Philemon has featured in filmic treatments of Paul s life including a new and fascinating film in Arabic entitled The Runaway 2006 The volume offers an excellent introduction not only to the main historical and critical issues raised by Philemon but also to the rich legacy that the Letter has created for subsequent generations of readers who remain fascinated by the subtlety of its depiction of human relationships Who's Afraid of Postmodernism? James K. A. Smith,2006-04 Builds on the work of Brian McLaren Robert Webber and others in assessing the contemporary church scene to discover what postmodernity has to say to the church Greening Paul David G. Horrell,Cherryl Hunt,Christopher Southgate,2010 A remarkable wide ranging attempt to read the Pauline literature from an ecological perspective Greening Paul the first book of its kind traverses carefully between extremes claiming to present Paul's narrative world and simply subjugating the Bible to a contemporary set of ethical values. Skillfully the authors craft their reading of Paul according to the cutting edge insights of narrative criticism and tackle burning questions which assail Christians in the present ecological crisis. Does the biblical tradition inculcate an anthropocentric worldview that gives humanity license to exploit the earth for our benefit? Does biblical eschatology imply that the earth is of only passing significance for the elect? Greening Paul is a timely and adroit re-reading of the apostle Paul that provides a potentially very fruitful ecological vision all the while staying true to the biblical text.

After Modernity? James K. A. Smith, 2008. The conservative radicalism represented in these contributions will resonate with a broad audience of scholars and citizens who seek to put faith into action.
