Barker,2008-08-20 This volume examines the enduring nature of religious nationalism in modern Europe Through a series of in depth case studies covering Ireland England Poland and Greece the author argues that religious frontiers or geographic lines of division between different and unique religions are central to the formation of religiously based national identities Typically as states develop economically and politically religion plays a lesser role in both individual lives and national identity However at religious frontiers religion becomes useful for differentiating and mobilizing groups of people This is particularly true when the religious frontier also represents a threat or conflict Although religion may not be the root of conflict in these instances the conflict takes on religious tones because of its ability to unite an otherwise diverse population Religion takes precedence over language culture or other national building blocks because the other can best be distinguished in religious terms The in depth case studies allow for a deep historical understanding of the processes which converge to create a modern religious nation Greatly expanding our current understanding of the conditions in which religious nationalism develops this important book has implications for our understanding of religion and politics secularization European politics and foreign policy Unhomely Cinema Dwayne Avery, 2014-10-15 Representations of troubled and inhospitable domestic places are a common feature of many cinematic narratives Unhomely Cinema explores how the unhomely nature of contemporary film narrative provides an insight into what it means to dwell in today's global societies Providing analyses of a variety of film genres from Michel Gondry's comedy Be Kind Rewind to Laurent Cantet's eerie suspense thriller Time Out Unhomely Cinema presents an engaging discussion of some of the most pertinent social and cultural issues involved in the question of making home in contemporary societies
