Contemporary Mainstream Religion Studies From Humberside And Lincolnshire:

Contemporary Mainstream Religion Peter Glover Forster, 1995 This text aims to fill a gap in the sociological literature on religion in Britain which is seen to have concentrated on fringe rather than mainstream activities Various case studies are brought together so as to indicate the significance of residues of the mainstream churches in people's lives

Evangelicalism and Fundamentalism in the United Kingdom During the Twentieth Century David W. Bebbington, David Bebbington, David Ceri Jones, 2013-10 A detailed look at the history of Christian fundamentalism in the United Kingdom during the twentieth century examining the inter relation between fundamentalism and evangelical theology Using detailed empirical evidence the authors challenge generalisations and enable a more nuanced understanding of the roots of fundamentalism today

Religion in History John Wolffe, 2004 This is an integrated collection of essays by leading scholars that looks at issues of conflict conversion and coexistence in the religious context since the third century The range of topics explored include paganism and Christianity in the later Roman world the Crusades the impact of the Reformation in Britain and Ireland subsequent Protestant Catholic conflict the Hindu Renaissance in nineteenth century India the Palestinian Israeli conflict Britain in the 1960s women and the ministry and Christianity Judaism and the Holocaust The book concludes by offering an historical perspective on religion conflict and coexistence in the world today Published in association with The Open University this is a student friendly and accessible volume

Church Growth in Britain David Goodhew, 2012 Church Growth in Britain provides a forceful critique of the notion of secularisation which dominates much of academia and the media and which conditions the thinking of many churches and church leaders This book shows that whilst decline is happening in some parts of the church this needs to be balanced by recognition of the vitality of large swathes of the Christian church in Britain Rebalancing the debate in this way requires wholesale change in our understanding of contemporary British Christianity

The Local Church and Generational Change in Birmingham, 1945-2000 Dr. Ian Jones, 2012 An examination of how religious identity changed in twentieth century England using Birmingham as a case study to illuminate wider trends The ongoing debate about secularisation and religious change in twentieth century Britain has paid little attention to the experience of those who swam against the cultural tide and continued to attend church This study based on extensive original archive and oral history research redresses this imbalance with an exploration of church based Christianity in post war Birmingham examining how churchgoers interpreted and responded to the changes that they saw in family congregation neighbourhood and wider society One important theme is the significance of age and generational identity to patterns of religiosity amidst profound change in attitudes to youth age and parenting and growing evidence of a widening generation gap in Christian belief and practice In addition to offering a new and distinctive perspective on the changing religious identity of late twentieth century English society the book also provides a rare case study in the significance of age and generation in the social and cultural history of modern Britain Ian Jones is the Director of the Saltley
