Content Expression And Structure Studies In Danish Functional Grammar Studies In Language Companion Series:

Content, Expression and Structure Elisabeth Engberg-Pedersen, 1996 This collection of papers offers an alternative to mainstream functional linguistics on two points Especially in American linguistics function and structure are often viewed almost as polar opposites in addition structure is often understood as being only a matter of linguistic form or expression as opposed to content The book tries to illustrate why function and structure must be understood as mutually dependent in relation to language and why the most interesting aspect of language structure is the way it structures the content side of language In this the book represents a reaffirmation of traditional concerns in structural linguistics especially with respect to the structural integrity of individual languages but with a reversal of traditional priority structure is not autonomous but must be understood on the basis of function Without being hostile to typological and universal generalizations the articles suggest that similarities between languages can only be responsibly discussed on the basis of an understanding that includes a respect for language differences The book contains discussions of a number of different languages including Nahuatl Danish Sign Language French and Tlapanec and focuses on the way meaning is organized in the grammar of Danish A final section sums up theoretical perspectives

Iconicity and Analogy in Language Change Janice Aski, Cinzia Russi, 2015-09-25 This book examines the alternation between accusative dative and dative accusative order in Old Florentine clitic clusters and its decline in favor of the latter Based on an exhaustive analysis of data collected from medieval Florentine and Tuscan texts we offer a novel analysis of the rise of the variable order the transition from one order to the other and the demise of the alternation that relies primarily on iconicity and analogy The book employs exophoric pragmatic iconicity a language external iconic relationship based on similarity between linguistic structure and the speaker writer's conceptualization of reality and endophoric iconicity a language internal iconic relationship where the iconic ground is construed between linguistic signs and structures Analogy is viewed as a productive process that generalizes patterns or extends grammatical rules to formally similar structures and obtains the form of the analogical relationship between the masculine singular definite article and the third person singular accusative clitic which shared the same phonotactically constrained distribution patterns The data indicate that exophoric pragmatic iconicity exploits and maintains the alternation whereas endophoric iconicity and analogy conspire to end it

Mood in the Languages of Europe Björn Rothstein, Rolf Thieroff, 2010 This book is the first comprehensive survey of mood in the languages of Europe It gives readers access to a collection of data on mood Each article presents the mood system of a specific European language in a way that readers not familiar with this language are able to understand and to interpret the data The articles contain information on the morphology and semantics of the mood system the possible combinations of tense and mood morphology and the possible uses of the non indicative mood s The papers address the explanation of mood from an empirical and descriptive perspective This book is of interest to scholars of mood and modality language contact and areal linguistics and typology Epistemic Modalities and Evidentiality in Cross-Linguistic Perspective Zlatka Guentchéva, 2018-04-09 This volume explores phenomena which come under the heading of epistemic modalities and evidentiality in more or less well known languages Germanic Romance Balto Slavic Hungarian Tibetan Lakandon and Yucatec Maya Arwak Chibchan Kogi and Ika It reveals cross linguistic variations in the structuring of these vast fields of enquiry and clearly demonstrates the relevance and interplay of multiple factors involved in the analysis of these two conceptual domains Although the contributions present diverging descriptive traditions they are nonetheless within the broad domain of functional typological linguistics and give access to distinct yet comparable approaches They all converge around a number of key issues modal verbs the relationship between epistemic modality and evidentiality the relationship of modal notions with some tense and aspect notions the notions of inter subjectivity commitment and dis engagement the prosodic variation of modal adverbs the diachronic connections between negation and evidential markers the connection with mirativity The volume is of interest to linguists and advanced graduate students working in general and theoretical linguistics semantics pragmatics cognition and typology New Directions in Grammaticalization Research Andrew D.M. Smith, Graeme Trousdale, Richard Wälchli, 2015-04-08 The articles in this volume examine a number of critical issues in grammaticalization studies including the relationship between grammaticalization and pragmaticalization subjectification and intersubjectification and grammaticalization and language contact The contributions consider data from a broad range of spoken and signed languages including Greek Japanese Nigerian Pidgin Swedish and Turkish Sign Language The authors work in a variety of theoretical frameworks and draw on a number of research traditions The volume will be of primary interest to historical linguists though the diversity of approaches and sources of data mean that the volume is also likely to have considerable general appeal Aspect in Mandarin Chinese Richard Xiao, Tony McEnery, 2004-01-01 Chinese as an aspect language has played an important role in the development of aspect theory This book is a systematic and structured exploration of the linguistic devices that Mandarin Chinese employs to express aspectual meanings The work presented here is the first corpus based account of aspect in Chinese encompassing both situation aspect and viewpoint aspect In using corpus data the book seeks to achieve a marriage between theory driven and corpus based approaches to linguistics The corpus based model presented explores aspect at both the semantic and grammatical levels At the semantic level a two level model of situation aspect is proposed which covers both the lexical and sentential levels thus giving a better account of the compositional nature of situation aspect At the grammatical level four perfective and four imperfective aspects in Chinese are explored in detail This exploration corrects many intuition based misconceptions and associated misleading conclusions about aspect in Chinese common in the literature Linguistic Diversity and Language Theories Zygmunt Frajzyngier, Adam Hodges, David S. Rood, 2005-02-28 From the refinement of general methodology to new insights of synchronic and diachronic universals to studies of specific phenomena this collection demonstrates the crucial role that language data play in the evolution of useful accurate linguistic theories Issues addressed include the determination of meaning in typological studies a refined understanding of diachronic processes by including intentional social statistical and level determined phenomena the reconsideration of categories such as sentence evidential or adposition and structures such as compounds or polysynthesis the tension between formal simplicity and functional clarity the inclusion of unusual systems in theoretical debates and fresh approaches to Chinese classifiers possession in Oceanic languages and English aspect This is a careful selection of papers presented at the International Symposium on Linguistic Diversity and Language Theories in Boulder Colorado The purpose of the Symposium was to confront fundamental issues in language structure and change with the rich variation of forms and functions observed across languages
