Contingent Meanings Postmodern Fiction Mimesis And The Reader:

Contingent Meanings Jerry A. Varsava, 1990 In making a case for a mimetic function in postmodern fiction Jerry Varsava evaluates the American reception of postmodern fiction challenging both the critics who condemn postmodernism as morally pointless and those who celebrate postmodern fiction for its aesthetic alone He then advances a view of mimesis the reader of fiction not the writer establishes the text's reference to the world

The A to Z of Postmodernist Literature and Theater Fran Mason, 2009-07-23 Postmodernist literature embraces a wide range of forms and perspectives including texts that are primarily self reflexive texts that use pastiche burlesque parody intertextuality and hybrid forms to create textual realities that either run in opposition to or in parallel with an external reality fabulations that develop both of these strategies texts that ironize their relationship to reality works that use the aspects already noted to more fully engage with political or cultural realities texts that deal with history as a fiction and texts that elude categorization even within the variety already explored For example in fiction a postmodernist novel might tell a story about a writer struggling with writing only perhaps to find that he is a character in a book by another writer struggling to write a book The A to Z of Postmodernist Literature and Theater examines the different areas of postmodernist literature and the variety of forms that have been produced This is accomplished through a chronology an introductory essay a bibliography and several hundred cross referenced dictionary entries on individual postmodernist writers the important postmodernist aesthetic practices significant texts produced throughout the history of postmodernist writing and important movements and ideas that have created a variety of literary approaches within the form By placing these concerns within the historical philosophical and cultural contexts of postmodernism this reference explores the frameworks within which postmodernist literature of the late twentieth and early twenty first century operates

Narrative Turns and Minor Genres in Postmodernism Theo D'haen, Hans Bertens, Johannes Willem Bertens, 1995 Challenging Theory: Discipline After Deconstruction Catherine Burgass, 2019-01-04 First published in 1999 this volume perceives that English literature is under threat as an academic discipline In Challenging Theory

Catherine Burgass warns against the recent trend towards the conflation of literature teaching with cultural studies in British and American universities Focusing on theory of deconstruction as developed by Jacques Derrida in the 1960s the book redresses some common misinterpretations of Derrida's work relating to the status of metaphysical oppositions Part One discusses textual differences and the ways in which these may dissolve and reform according to different cultural contexts The practical issues associated with teaching literature and literary theory in universities are examined in Part Two while Part Three highlights some of the more invidious claims of literary theorists and questions the value of metaphysical analysis as a tool for political critique Challenging Theory tackles an important debate that lies at the heart of humanities teaching It illuminates the impact on academia of the work of critical theorists over the last thirty years and provides a platform for future reassessment of the relationships between literature philosophy and theory Reference Guide to Holocaust Literature Thomas Riggs,2002 Covering the entire spectrum of the literature of the Holocaust era from the beginnings of Nazism through the concentration camp experience survivor syndrome and second generation response this detailed survey includes entries on more than 200 authors and 300 works Author entries include detailed biographical information as well as expert analytical interpretation Work entries discuss each work in detail and include a critical essay written by an expert in the field Value added features include chronologies further reading lists and nationality concentration camp and title indexes A Teacher's Introduction to Reader-response Theories Richard Beach,1993 This book offers teachers a convenient means of broadening their understanding of reader response theory and criticism and applying this theory to the teaching of literature in high school and college classrooms The book is designed to arouse individual teachers interest in reader response theory and encourage them to apply it to their teaching The book covers the various branches of reader response theory the key ideas of its many proponents and the advantages and disadvantages of each branch of theory as perceived by critics Individual chapters include 1 Introduction 2 Textual Theories of Response 3 Experiential Theories of Response 4 Psychological Theories of Response 5 Social Theories of Response 6 Cultural Theories of Response and 7 Applying Theory to Practice Making Decisions about Eliciting Response A glossary of key terms in reader response theory along with an extensive bibliography covering the many facets of the entire field are appended HB The International Fiction Review ,1991 Critical Essays on American Postmodernism Stanley Trachtenberg,1995 The Journal of Narrative Technique ,1995 Mimesis Bernard F. The Novel in the Balance investigates the issue of balance as a thematic and stylistic feature of contemporary American fiction. In his refreshingly jargon free examination of modern and postmodern writings Arthur Saltzman cites the hovering poised provisional quality of contemporary fiction as the impetus for his study and he distinguishes paradox as the common philosophical premise and formal principle uniting the works he considers here. Through a comparative analysis of numerous exemplary modern and postmodern novels Saltzman identifies the strategies employed to produce a state of equilibrium between opposing forces and opposing viewpoints. Whereas previous fiction embraced formal and philosophical resolution contemporary fiction as Saltzman contends playfully invites disjunction and rupture into its portrayal of reality. Inspired by its subject the book's structure mirrors the balance found throughout each of the spotlighted works. In the six central chapters Saltzman juxtaposes compatible novels and then interprets them against or in terms of one another. He compares the work of John Hawkes and Marilynne Robinson E L Doctorow and Tim O'Brien Don DeLillo and Joseph McElroy Robert Coover and Paul Auster Richard Powers and Stanley Elkin Leslie Marmon Silko and Charles Johnson and others. As he probes the issue of balance in recent American fiction Saltzman joins the ongoing debate between modernist orthodoxies and postmodernist objections and amplifications. Review of Contemporary Fiction, 1991
