

Managed Care Contract Negotiation Checklist

Negotiating your managed care contracts is a necessary evil if you want to have a successful practice. However, jumping into the process without a clear plan of attack can lock you into terms that get you paid less than you deserve, or even worse.

The good news is, you can make negotiating your managed care contracts faster, easier, and more successful by utilizing this complimentary Managed Care Contract Negotiation Checklist.

Even though you can request a contract review with your payer any time you see fit, doing so before you have all of your ducks in a row can have serious consequences.

In most cases, reimbursement is your top issue when negotiating your payer contracts. However, you should also carefully analyze your profits by payer as well. You may determine that you are losing money on the contract. If that occurs, you may decide that you would be better off by walking away from the contract altogether.

You have a right to negotiate your managed care contracts and boost your practice's income. This checklist will ensure that you don't miss a step!
