BOOK JACKET Clothing and Footwear in African Industrialisation Dorothy McCormick,Christian Myles Rogerson,2004 There is a broad consensus amongst development specialist that in order to grow and develop African countries need to industrialise and at a greater rate than they are doing at present In searching for the reasons for the disappointing industrial progress so far observers have tended to take a broad look at the industrial sector as a whole The work reported in this volume takes a different approach It sets out from the premise that two industries clothing and footwear offer excellent starter opportunities for baseline industrial growth Garments and footwear are low tech industries in so far that use stable well diffused technology They generate only low level research and development needs require only basic skills and operate on low economies of scale whilst having the capacity to absorb large numbers of semi skilled workers and make extensive use of local resources Additionally they offer considerable export potential This collection of papers focuses on the changing role and potential of the clothing and footwear sectors in industrialisation in Africa The examples elucidated are the clothing and footwear sectors in Ethiopia Kenya South Africa and Tanzania Taken together these four countries provide a representative cross sector of African countries and present a range of different issues relating to the continent s clothing and footwear economy More generally the volume seeks to contribute to a greater appreciation of the impacts of globalisation on industrial development trajectories Africa and Global Civil Aviation Safety and Security in Light of September 11 Norman Mlambo,2006 The Oil Paradox C. I. Obi,2004 The dominant trend in environmental studies has assumed that people ruin the natural environment The contributors to Greening the Great Red Island Madagascar in Nature and Culture challenge this assumption not for its elements of obvious truthfulness but its oversimplification Diverse social environmental perspectives on Madagascar demonstrate that Madagascar s rural people have dynamic historical and complex relationships with their environments Conservation organisations working to preserve Madagascar s biological megadiversity may achieve negative results if they start with the wrong assumptions Combining potent theoretical and methodological analysis with detailed case studies from across the island of Madagascar this collection will appeal to those doing research and teaching in African studies anthropology development environmental studies geography history political science and zoology Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory
