chronological summary of the campaign in Mesopotamia showing the respective periods and details of operations covered by each of the four volumes which constitute the history of the campaign An extensive appendix gives details of the distribution of the troops of the Mesopotamia Expeditionary Force as on 27 May 1917 and in the following appendix compares the order of battle of the Turkish Sixth Army and its strength in rifles sabres and machine guns on 17 August 1917 The narrative opens with the description of the River Euphrates operations and the British victory at Ramadi under General Maude who tragically died of cholera on 18 November 1917 A very able commander he was a great loss Other operations described include NW Persia and the Dunsterville Force in Kurdistan and on the shores of the Caspian Sea occupation and defence of Baku and the advance on Mosul Only one British division the 13th Western served in Mesopotamia compared with nine Indian divisions including one cavalry Total casualties amounted to 92 501 of whom 14 814 were killed in action or died of wounds while 12 807 died of disease Appendices also give the distribution of the Mesopotamia Expeditionary Force on various dates and list the principal officers brigadier generals and above in the Force on 1 December 1917 and 1 November 1918 There is a good index

The Campaign in Mesopotamia Vol III. Official History of the Great War Other Theatres Anon, 2013-05 This third volume in the official four volume history of the Mesopotamia Iraq campaign takes the story from May 1916 up to 30 April 1917 covering the battle of Kut Al Amara the pursuit of the Turks the occupation of Baghdad and the subsequent operations around Baghdad Operations here are described in detail since this phase in the Mesopotamian campaign is the only instance of continuous close trench fighting Appendices provide detailed British and Indian army order of battle information

The Campaign in Mesopotamia, 1914-1918, Vol. 2 F. J. Moberly (comp), 1924

The Campaign in Mesopotamia Vol I. Official History of the Great War Other Theatres Brig Gen. F. J. Moberly, 2013-05 The first of four volumes covering the campaign in Mesopotamia today's Iraq that was fought mainly by Indian Army troops This volume opens with background on the geography of the country the pre war political scene the Turks the Indian Army and the inception of the operations The history of the campaign opens with the landing of Force D in Mesopotamia in November 1914 the occupation of Basra and capture of Qurna It covers the defeat of the Turkish counter offensive the capture of Amara in June 1915 and on to the Battle of Kut in September concluding with the situation at the beginning of October 1915

A Nation at War in an Era of Strategic Change Williamson Murray, 2004 The President Secretary of Defense and the Army's Chief of Staff have all stated that the United States is a Nation at War The U S military faces significant strategic challenges as it continues to transform the force and improve interagency integration into joint operations all the while engaging in active combat operations associated with the Global War on Terrorism This collection of outstanding essays three of which won prestigious writing awards by the students enrolled in the Army War College's Advanced Strategic Art Program ASAP highlight some of these strategic challenges and offer thoughtful solutions They provide insights that will undoubtedly prove useful to decisionmakers at the highest levels of our national security establishment ASAP graduates continue to make their mark as outstanding theater strategists in the Office of the Secretary of Defense the Joint Staff and Army Staff and in the Combatant Commands

Naval Power and Expeditionary Wars Bruce A. Elleman, S.C.M. Paine, 2010-12-09 This book examines the nature and character of naval expeditionary warfare in particular in peripheral campaigns and the contribution of such campaigns to the achievement of strategic victory Naval powers which can lack the massive ground forces to win in the main theatre often choose a secondary theatre accessible to them by sea and difficult for their enemies to reach by land giving the sea power and its expeditionary forces the advantage The technical term for these theatres is peripheral operations The subject of peripheral campaigns in naval expeditionary warfare is central to the British the US and the Australian way of war in the past and in the future All three are reluctant to engage large land forces because of the high human and economic costs Instead they rely as much as possible on sea and air power and the latter is most often in the form of carrier based aviation In order to exert pressure on their enemies they have often opened additional theaters in on going regional and civil wars This book contains thirteen case studies by some of the foremost naval historians from the United States Great Britain and Australia whose collected case studies examine the most important peripheral operations of the last two centuries This book will be of much interest to students of naval warfare military history strategic studies and security studies

The Campaign in Mesopotamia Brig -Gen F J Moberley, 2024-10-08 This third volume in the official four volume history of the Mesopotamia Iraq campaign takes the story from May 1916 up to 30 April 1917 covering the battle of Kut Al Amara the pursuit of the Turks the occupation of Baghdad and the subsequent operations around Baghdad During this period command of the British forces had passed to General Maude whose papers were made available to the author by the General's widow Lady Maude The Turkish troops proved to be tough opponents especially on the River Tigris where their XVIII Corps made an heroic stand Operations here are described in detail since this phase in the Mesopotamian campaign is the only instance of continuous close trench fighting Appendices provide detailed British and Indian Army order of battle information

A Nation at War in an Era of Strategic Change , The Coast Artillery Journal , 1928 Allied Intervention in Russia 1918-1919 John Swettenham, 2017-03-27 When originally published in 1967 and using archive material from official records in Ottawa this book threw new light on the motives and actions of the intervening powers Allied intervention took place in three main areas Northern and Southern Russia as well as Siberia Canada was the major Commonwealth contributor to the intervention in Siberia and a superficial account of the events and their political implications is contained in the official history of the Canadian Army in the First World War This book discusses the subject in depth and from an international perspective In this critical assessment the story of the Allied operations in Russia has been written against the double background of the issues and events of the Russian Civil War itself and of the international intrigues and rivalries of the Allies

The Campaign in Mesopotamia Brig -Gen F J Moberley, 2024-10-08 The first of four volumes covering the campaign in Mesopotamia's Iraq that was fought mainly by Indian Army troops only one British division was there the 13th Western which arrived from Gallipoli in February 1916 This volume opens with background on the geography of the country the pre war political scene the Turks the Indian Army and the inception of the operations The history of the campaign opens with the landing of Force D in Mesopotamia in November 1914 the occupation of Basra and capture of Qurna It covers the defeat of the Turkish counter offensive the capture of Amara in June 1915 and on to the Battle of Kut in September concluding with the situation at the beginning of October 1915 Indian Army and the First World War Kaushik Roy,2018-06-29 Accustomed to conducting low intensity warfare before 1914 the Indian Army learnt to engage in high intensity conventional warfare during the course of World War I thereby exhibiting a steep learning curve Being the bulwark of the British Empire in South Asia the brown warriors of the Raj functioned as an imperial fire brigade during the war Studying the Indian Army as an institution during the war Kaushik Roy delineates its social cultural and organizational aspects to understand its role in the scheme of British imperial projects Focusing not just on history from above but also history from below Roy analyses the experiences of common soldiers and not just those of the high command Moreover since society along with the army was mobilized to provide military and non military support this volume sheds light on the repercussions of this mass mobilization on the structure of British rule in South Asia Using rare archival materials published autobiographies and diaries Roy s work offers a holistic analysis of the military performance of the Indian Army in major theatres during the war Journal of the Central Asian Society Central Asian Society, London,1925 The Campaign in Mesopotamia, 1914-1918; Compiles at the Request of the Government of India Under the Direction of the Historical Section of the Committee of Imperial Defence Frederick James Brig.-general Moberly,1925 The First Iraq War 1914-1918 A. J. Barker,2010-11 When Allah made Hell runs the Arab proverb he did not find it bad enough so he made Mesopotamia and added flies What was a British Army doing in this Godforsaken place and how had it all come about A J Barker s masterful retelling of the story of Britain s first Iraq war in 1914 is a masterpiece of military history that provides many answers to the endless problems and realities encountered in Iraq since 2003 Prestige and power played a major role then as they still do today If the British were dislodged from the Shatt al Arab the effects would undoubtedly have reverberated throughout the whole of the Eastern world Journal of the Royal Central Asian Society ,1925 The Campaign in Mesopotamia, 1914-1918; Compiles at the Request of the Government of India Under the Direction of the Historical Section of the Committee of Imperial Defence Frederick James Brig.-general Moberly,1924
