Campus Support For Terrorism:

United in Hate Jamie Glazov, 2009 United in Hate analyzes the Left's contemporary romance with militant Islam as a continuation of the Left's love affair with communist totalitarianism in the twentieth century Just as the Left was drawn to the communist killing machines of Lenin Stalin Mao Pol Pot and Castro so too it is now attracted to radical Islam Both the radical Left and radical Islam possess a profound hatred for Western culture for a capitalist economic structure that recognizes individual achievement and for the Judeo Christian heritage of the United States Both seek to establish a new world order leftists in the form of a classless communist society and Islamists in the form of a caliphate ruled by Sharia law To achieve these goals both are willing to wipe the slate clean by means of limitless carnage with the ultimate goal of erecting their utopia upon the ruins of the system they have destroyed

Hoffman, 2025-03-19 Critics of terrorism news coverage often describe it as a sensationalized and intimidating area of reporting However this characterization offers a misleading guide to the coverage of terrorist threats and attacks counterterrorism and community responses to terrorism that appears in U S newspapers Counterterrorism not terrorist threats or attacks is the most reported on subject in newspapers such as the New York Times and Wall Street Journal Rather than focusing on accounts of terrorist attacks militarized counterterrorism or counterterrorism failures journalists more often cover counterterrorism successes criminal justice and diplomatic or community responses to terrorism The Terrorism News Beat engages thinking about terrorism and the news media from the fields of political science communication criminology economics and sociology using multimethod research involving more than 2 500 newspaper articles published between 1997 and 2018 Chapters analyze the terrorism news beat's subject matter language and coverage of the Oklahoma City Bombing Olympic Park bombing 9 11 attacks DC Sniper case and Dallas Police shooting When it comes to language use Hoffman finds that rather than giving into the temptation to convey the news in lurid detail journalists are minimalists The language used to depict events on the terrorism beat is typically moderate and extreme words like torture appear only as necessary The Terrorism News Beat shows that contrary to claims of sensationalism the tone of terrorism coverage becomes even more sober during terrorism

Academic Freedom in the Wired World Robert M. O'Neil,2008-02-28 In this passionately argued overview a longtime activist scholar takes readers through the changing landscape of academic freedom From the aftermath of September 11th to the new frontier of blogging Robert O Neil examines the tension between institutional and individual interests Many cases boil down to a hotly contested question who has the right to decide what is taught in the classroom O Neil shows how courts increasingly restrict professorial judgment and how the feeble protection of what is posted on the Internet and written in email makes academics more vulnerable than ever Even more provocatively O Neil argues the newest threats to academic freedom come not from government but from the private sector Corporations increasingly sponsor and control university based research while self appointed watchdogs systematically harass individual teachers on websites and blogs Most troubling these threats to academic freedom are nearly immune from legal recourse Insisting that new concepts of academic freedom and new strategies for maintaining it are needed O Neil urges academics to work together and across rigid and simplistic divisions between left and right
