Canadian Defence Industry In The New Global Environment:

Canadian Defence Industry in the New Global Environment Alistair D. Edgar, David G. Haglund, 1995-05-01 Alistair Edgar and David Haglund examine changes in the international demand for defence products in the post Cold War era review the reorganization and rationalization of the supply side of the international defence market through various government policy initiatives and corporate strategies and discuss the ways in which the Canadian government and defence producers have attempted to cope with this new and uncertain international environment They also explore the international and domestic contexts military economic and political within which defence industries operate Edgar and Haglund s analysis draws on extensive interviews with political and industry leaders military personnel and government officials from Canada the United States the United Kingdom France Belgium the Netherlands Norway Denmark Spain and Germany This timely study of the domestic American and other NATO defence markets will interest scholars and students of Canadian defence policy Canadian foreign policy and Canadian external relations and public servants politicians and personnel in the industry

U.S.-Canadian Defense Industrial Cooperation Kristina Obecný, Gregory Sanders, 2017-07-17 This study evaluates the health of the U S Canadian defense industrial relationship which is critically important as the U S Department of Defense expands the national technology and industrial base The CSIS study team gathered and analyzed a wide range of quantitative data and conducted interviews with government and industry officials involved with bilateral cooperation on both sides of the border In addition to looking at top level history legislation policy and trends the study team undertook five sectoral case studies highlighting different aspects of the benefits from and challenges facing bilateral cooperation The study finds that the benefits to both partners exceed what either could obtain solely by relying only on its own national resources While the overall U S Canadian defense industrial relationship remains sound the study team identifies a range of recommendations to enhance its value to both partners

Canada's National Security in the Post-9/11 World David S. McDonough, 2012-01-01 After the terrorist attacks of 9 11 which targeted the heart of financial and military power in the United States Canada once again proved its credentials as a key American ally With the imminent end of its combat role in Afghanistan however it is time to take stock of how Canada has adapted to the exigencies of the post 9 11 world and to consider the future directions for its foreign defence and security policies This timely exploration and re assessment of Canada s approach to strategic affairs offers a diverse set of nuanced sometimes controversial and always insightful perspectives on the most pressing security challenges that Canada currently faces Bringing together noted experts on these issues including a Canadian Senator a past Minister of National Defence former high level military officers and top scholars this collection provides powerful ideas and guidance for the difficult task of formulating an overarching national security strategy

Nossal, 1997 Security, Strategy and the Global Economics of Defence Production Queen's University (Kingston, Ont.). School of Policy Studies, 1999 As the recent fighting in Serbia illustrates the technology of modern warfare is in constant evolution with implications spanning a wide range of public policy areas from the broad dimensions of alliance strategy to the specific confines of defence investment production and trade For the past several years technological innovation in the arms industry of the world's leading states has been proceeding in relation to the phenomenon of globalisation in the civilian sector Although the combined impact of the postulated revolution in military affairs and the globalisation of industry has been felt in all Western states it has been of particular concern in two NATO countries Canada and the United Kingdom as each is located on the margins of a continental market in defence goods Both have established a set of privileged linkages and interests with this market although they have retained a certain strategic political and economic distance Security Strategy and the Global Economics of Defence Production features contributions from a broad range of policy analysts and practitioners in Canada and the United Kingdom whose primary concern is to identify and analyse the major challenges that Ottawa and London will be facing in the coming decade Among the issues and challenges considered are understanding the changing nature of threat and risk to security interests devising appropriate means of harnessing and responding to technological change in warfare and assessing the relative merits of regional defence industrial groupings as opposed to trans Atlantic arrangements The contributors also discuss developments in policy respecting the procurement and export of arms as well as the enhancement of the quality of bilateral defence co operation and trade David G Haglund is director of the Centre for International Relations Queen's University S Neil MacFarlane is director for the Centre of International Studies and Lester B Pearson Professor of International Relations at Oxford University Canadian Foreign Policy Andrew Fenton Cooper, 1997 The Centre-periphery Debate in International Security Queen's University (Kingston, Ont.). take their fundamental responsibilities seriously GoogleBooks Readings in Canadian Foreign Policy Christopher John Kukucha, Duane Bratt, 2007 This is a reader for courses in Canadian foreign policy it can be used on its own as a core text or alongside a single authored text The book is structured in six sections covering a broad range of topics approaches to Canadian Foreign Policy external sources domestic sources of CFP security trade and economic issues and social considerations which include human rights environment and development issues Small Arms Survey 2001 Graduate Institute of International Studies (Geneva, Switzerland), 2001 In its premier issue this volume provides the first broad overview of major aspects of the problem of small arms and light weapons proliferation Issues covered include products and producers global firearms stockpiles brokers and transport agents legal small arms transfers illicit small arms transfers the effects of small arms availability and multilateral measures and initiatives The Survey will serve as the principal source of public information on all aspects of small arms and as a resource center for governments policy makers researchers and activists With international contributors from a variety of backgrounds it will interest all those in security studies political science law economics development studies and sociology Grants and Fellowships Awarded Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada, 1995 Of Fears and Foes Jose V. Cipurut, 2000-08-30 At the end of the deadliest century known to mankind the world still finds itself mired in bloodshed In addition to formal inter state conflict we see an increase in other forms of organized violence including ethnic warfare terrorism civil conflict and internationally necessitated police actions Cornered by these powerful global forces nation states continue their quest for security Theirs is a search plagued by futility since the very meaning of the word security is being eroded by the pace and tenor of change in an evolving international environment more complex and confusing than ever The explanatory power of traditional notions of international security which has provided a cornerstone for international relations theory as a whole seems increasingly inadequate in helping to understand the makings of global security A novel approach is needed one that integrates discerning insights from the study of language history geography religion economics and technology with more traditional understandings of the workings of power on an international level and on an intranational scale Of Fears and Foes presents just this kind of innovative thinking by some of the most creative scholars working on these issues today Cipurut invites us to consider a fundamental reassessment of what constitutes security and insecurity in an emerging global environment

Dispersed Relations Reginald C. Stuart, 2007-10-17 Recent events may have strained and perhaps even blunted this historical evolution Stuart notes Since 9 11 Washington has focused upon security and Ottawa reluctantly has met that concern in order to sustain the open transit of people and goods upon which Canada so relies As the Western Hemisphere Travel Initiative has shown however border management also has become increasingly costly and complex This may lead to political continentalism that interaction in other realms failed to produce more likely though the two peoples and their governments will merely adapt to changing circumstances BOOK JACKET International Bibliography of Book Reviews of

Bibliographie de la Vie Militaire Au Canada, 1867-1995 O. A. Cooke, Canada. Department of National Defence. Directorate of History and Heritage, 1997 Canadian military history and military matters have not been well represented in general in retrospective bibliographies of Canadian or in international military bibliographies What has been attempted in this document is a bibliography of published primary sources and secondary works on Canadian military topics excluding poetry and fiction covering the period from Confederation to the present Entries in the bibliography represent printed monographs books and pamphlets and serial titles The prime criteria of inclusion were that the work be chiefly or uniquely both Canadian and military in its contents Many in house publications of the training pamphlet or regulations type have been included but only insofar as they tell us something of the armed forces themselves rather than details of tactical doctrine or of pieces of equipment Works by or about Canadians serving with the armed forces of other countries have been included as well as materials relating to the military history of Newfoundland since 1867
