Chair's Column
E. Kevin Kelloway, PhD
Saint Mary's University

With remarkable consistency, I am ending my term as CSIOP much the way I began – with a late submission for the newsletter – apologies to all for my delay (and hence the delay on distributing this newsletter) and most especially to David Stanley who has had the unhappy task of reminding me to do my job on more than one occasion.

CPA is fast approaching and I hope that you are planning to join us in Montreal. The pre-conference institute promises to be a highlight of the conference and Kiboom has put together a strong program for the IO section. As usual, we are collaborating with the Military section to host the Friday night social – this year we will be presenting the RHR Kendall award and recognizing some of our volunteers at the social. Not to worry though... the formalities will be short and not cut into the social aspects of the evening.

Spring 2009

As you might know, SIOP and the European Academy of Work and Organizational Psychology are working on developing an international coordinating body for I/O – a memorandum of agreement was signed at this year's meeting of SIOP in New Orleans. I have asked Gary Latham as past president of SIOP and one of the key movers of this initiative to attend our business meeting to provide section members with a high level, 5-10 minute briefing on this new initiative.

At the close of CPA, I hand the Chair over to Peter Hausdorf and the new executive (some of whom have yet to be elected – come to the business meeting!!!) and enter my semi-retirement as Past Chair. Although I have been unable to convince our treasurer to consider the option of a "golden parachute" for the outgoing chair, in all other respects it has been a true delight to work with the members of the executive and volunteers who keep CSIOP running. Over the past year I have been amazed at how often an email query to the executive resulted in prompt and sage advice from a variety of sources. Equally amazing is the number of times when someone volunteered to take on one more additional task in order to keep section business moving forward.

And the winner is....

Sometime ago I asked how many I/O psychologists it takes to change a lightbulb and promised an exotic and valuable prize to the individual who submitted the best answer. The panel of judges has met and the winner is... John Reishak. John submitted the following "None: I/O psychologists do not change lightbulbs; we figure out how to get them to work". John, I will be in touch to arrange delivery of the fabulous reward (ok, ok... a USB drive with the logo of our research centre on it – I may

Joseph R. D'Cruz, James Douglas Fleck, 1985 From the back cover Canada can compete in international markets but not the authors contend under the present national economic strategy Policies that redistribute income and allocate resources through government fiat have weakened Canada s ability to transform its manufacturing sector to meet the new competitive challenges D Cruz and Fleck compare the performance of seventy one Canadian industries from 1967 to 1981 with industries in Japan the United States Britain and France To enhance the competitiveness of Canadian manufacturing the authors propose a differential industrial strategy one that emphasizes growth and development Government they say must play a hands off role in Canada s market economy limiting itself to establishing the rules of the game The authors recommend in addition macro economic policies that would reduce the federal deficit restrain wages for public servants preserve low differentials between Canadian and American interest rates and maintain the Canadian dollar at 70 cents U S Canada Among Nations 1986 Brian Tomlin, Maureen Appel Molot, 1987 The 1986 edition of Canada Among Nations chronicles the momentous ongoing debates concerning free trade negotiations with the United States From the start the free trade talks were bedevilled by a flurry of protectionist moves in the U S the most inflammatory involving a proposed duty on Canadian softwood lumber In the face of American belligerence the Mulroney government appeared indecisive on the lumber issue it insisted that it would neither negotiate nor impose an export tax and then did both In addition to free trade Canada Among Nations treats issues including Canada s foreign policy its economic situation relations with the third world and response to contemporary arms control proposals Current Issues in Industrial Economic Strategy Keith Cowling,Roger Sugden,1992 A New Special Relationship Peter Morici,1991 This study examines from an American perspective the impact of the free trade agreement FTA on the evolution of the Canada United States economic relationship It puts into historical context the special trading relationship between Canada and the United States which prevailed over the early postwar period It examines how FTA rules and dispute settlement procedures create an effective basis for managing bilateral economic relationships in the context of more decentralized policy processes It also explores the potential impact on the bilateral trading regime of the changing nature of international competition the adjustments taking place in the structure of the Canadian and American economies and the challenges posed by continuing technological change The American Economist ,1999 Knowledge and Industrial Organization Ake E. Andersson,David F. Batten,Charlie Karlsson,2012-12-06 This volume contains a selection of papers presented at an international symposium on research and development industrial change and economic policy organized and hosted by the University of Karlstad Viinnland Sweden Situated about halfway between Stockholm and Oslo Karlstad stands on the River Klara which reaches north into the mountains of Norway Founded by King Charles IX of Sweden whose statue stands in the city centre beside the river the city celebrated its 400th anniversary in 1984 For many decades the wealth of Karlstad has been based on traditional industries such as iron timber and paper and throughout the province of Viinnland there are a considerable number of industrial communities which grew up around mines ironworks sawmills and papermills Even the cultural structure of these communities is heavily marked by the industrial environment in which they developed However for over a decade now a major structural reorientation has been taking place and the old industrial structures have been disappearing For various reasons the importance of large scale manufacturing companies has declined and as a result of intense development work with new ideas new entrepreneurs and new technology we have seen the rapid rise of small companies In this context recent research has shown that universities playing an increasingly central role in regional development Thus the continued development of the University of Karlstad is of significant regional and national interest Although fairly small in an international perspective approximately 4000 students the university is expanding rapidly The State, Business, and Industrial Change in Canada Michael M. Atkinson,William D. Coleman,1989-12-15 The late twentieth century has seen profound changes in the character of the international economic order According to the authors of this study Canada has failed to come to terms with those changes Our industrial policy is diffuse ad hoc and sectoral Michael Atkinson and William Coleman argue that in order to analyse Canada s industrial policy effectively particular attention must be given to industry organization state structures and systems of interest intermediation at the sectoral level

To make such an analysis they introduce the concept of policy network and apply it to three types of industrial sectors the research intensive sectors of telecommunications manufacturing and pharmaceuticals the rapidly changing sectors of petrochemicals and meat processing and the contracting and troubled sectors of textiles clothing and dairy processing Through the lens of these sectors Coleman and Atkinson shed considerable light on the intersection of political considerations and policy development and offer a new base on which to move forward in planning for economic growth
