Cancer El Legado Evolutivo:

Cancer ; El Legado Evolutivo Melvyn F. Greaves,2000 Cancer, el Legado Evolutivo Mel Greaves,2002-06 El cancer está en todos los sitios. Uno de cada tres de nosotros tendrá en algún momento una desagradable diagnosis de cancer cada día. 1 500 americanos y muchas otras personas que no lo son mueren de esta enfermedad. En las sociedades occidentales la afición por la salud, la riqueza y la longevidad y su continuada prominencia es uno de los mayores retos para nuestros científicos. Y la enfermedad que llamamos cancer es extraordinariamente diversa en su causa, en sus síntomas y en la probabilidad de un tratamiento efectivo de alguna manera el cancer de cada paciente es único y esto es parte del problema. En este nuevo e importante libro Mel Greaves explica por qué los viejos paradigmas de las enfermedades infecciosas o de los desórdenes genéticos han resultado infructuosos al intentar justificar el complejo y esquivo puzzle que es el cancer. En vez de eso él sugiere que observando el cancer en su contexto evolutivo podemos empezar a responder algunas de las grandes cuestiones que nos conciernen a todos.

Cáncer Mel Greaves, Josep Carreras, 2002 El éxito obtenido por la Historia del tiempo de Stephen Hawking propició la creación en 1991 de esta colección de divulgación científica que fue dirigida durante largo tiempo por dos personas de formación humanística de ahí ciertas contaminaciones al inicio de la colección. Sin embargo cuando Jose Manuel Sanchez Ron se hizo cargo de ella dio un aprobado a la gestión anterior. En esta colección quizás la más ambiciosa de todas las de divulgación científica que se editan en español se han publicado obras de Stephen Jay Gould, Carl Sagan, Ian Stewart, Edward O Wilson, Antonio Damasio, Luigi Luca Cavalli Sforza, Ilya Prigogine, John D Barrow, Rita Levi Montalcini, Richard P Feynman, Roger Penrose, Steven Weinberg, Rachel Carson, Francisco Garcia Olmedo, Francisco Yndurain o Jose Manuel Sanchez Ron. Porque no está ahí. Que mejor razón podría haber para sondear las profundidades de la nada. Y lo que descubrimos resulta ser inesperadamente sustancial. Este extraordinario libro recorrecada uno de los rincones y de las grietas de la nada para demostrar el modo en que la mente de los hombres tiene que hacer algo de la nada en cada campo de las investigaciones humanas.

Cancer Melvyn F. Greaves, 2001 In this lucid and entertaining book Mel Greaves argues that evolutionary biology offers a new perspective that can help us unravel the riddle of cancer. Why for example have women always had such a raw deal in the cancer stakes. And why are some cancers such as prostate cancer increasing in incidence. Greaves argues that Darwinian selection millions of years ago has endowed our genes and cells with inherently cancerous credentials and this is exacerbated by our rapid social evolution and exotic behavioural traits that outpace genetic adaptation. The book is full of novel insights, the latest scientific discoveries and wonderful historical anecdotes. It provides a unique portrait of cancer past, present and future.

Los otros ojos del cáncer Juan José Medina Moreno, 2016-09-22 Este libro es una exposición que intenta desmitificar la enfermedad cancerosa como lacra social y despojarla de ese estigma de muerte perdida de ilusión y desesperación al tiempo que pone de manifiesto la manipulación que de ella hace tanto la oncología oficial como las autoridades científicas y de porqué el sistema necesita de estas patologías para perpetuar sus beneficios. descubrir las decidí asumir un camino del que casi todo el mundo quería disuadir. Cuenta con una narrativa trepidante como profundiza entre otros ámbitos en el mundo de la medicina, la psicología, la industria farmacéutica, la comunicación o la economía política del cáncer. Un camino en el que también descubrí para su sorpresa que las convenciones sociales en torno a la enfermedad, la maternidad o los estereotipos sobre las mujeres en su entorno más cercano y lejano eran en ocasiones mayores obstáculos que su pronóstico a la hora de afrontar su vida. Sin embargo, este libro no aspira a ser un manual de autoayuda, aunque puede servir para abrirse a nuevas realidades y avanzar discretamente mejor a quienes ir más allá mostrando perspectivas que no han sido nunca tratadas en relatos similares, combinando la intriga científica con una historia de supervivencia y un ejemplo de lucha contra el reloj para cualquier persona que se enfrente a un reto vital.

Cáncer de mama en las primíparas José Luis Sánchez Vega, Aida Medina Garrido, Daniel Rastrollo Collantes, 2012-09-04. Es un estudio de investigación basado en el problema que se plantea ahora mismo en la sociedad de los embarazos tardíos.

Integrative Approaches to Human Health and Evolution Timothy G. Bromage, 2006. Contained in this book are the proceedings of the Fundación Ramon Areces International Symposium concerning research in human health and evolution subject areas. Their combined study represents not only scientific balance but also the potential for profound novel insights on the human condition.

Cancer Mel Greaves, 2004-11. Every day 1500 Americans die of cancer and yet for most of us this deadly disease remains mysterious. Why is it so common? Why are there so many different causes? Why does treatment so often fail? What ultimately is cancer? In this fascinating new book a leading cancer researcher offers general readers clear and convincing answers to these and many other questions. Mel Greaves places cancer in its evolutionary context, arguing that we can best answer the big questions about cancer by looking through a Darwinian lens. Drawing on both ancient and more modern evolutionary legacies, he shows how human development has changed the rules of evolutionary games, trapping us in a nature nurture mismatch. Compelling examples from the King of Naples' intestinal tumor in the 15th century through the epidemic of scrotal skin cancer in 18th century chimney sweeps to the current surge of cases of prostate cancer illustrate his thesis. He also shows why the old paradigms of infectious diseases or genetic disorders have proved fruitless when trying to explain this complex and elusive disease. And finally, he looks at the implications for research, prevention and treatment of cancer that an evolutionary perspective provides. Drawing on the most recent research, this is the first book to put cancer in its evolutionary framework. At a time when Darwinian perspectives on everything from language acquisition to economics are providing new breakthroughs in understanding medicine seems to have much to gain from the insights provided by evolutionary biology. Written in an exceptionally lucid and entertaining style, this book will be of broad interest to all those who wish to know more about this dread disease.
