Canada And The Nuclear Arms Race:

Canada and the Nuclear Arms Race Ernie Regehr, Simon Rosenblum, 1983 First published in 1983 this book reports from the middle of the nuclear arms race when the world's two superpowers the US and the USSR were adding increasingly sophisticated weapons to their arsenals reaching a point where they could effectively wipe each other out many times over Some of Canada's most distinguished critics of the nuclear arms race examine this drift to annihilation show how Canada was contributing to it and explain the policies that Canada could have adopted to encourage the reversal of the arms race

CANADA AND THE NUCLEAR ARMS RACE; ED. BY... AND SIMON ROSENBLUM. Ernie Regehr (Ed), 1983      A
Global History of the Nuclear Arms Race Richard Dean Burns, Joseph M. Siracusa, 2013-04-23 Written by two preeminent authors in the field this book provides an accessible global narrative of the nuclear arms race since 1945 that focuses on the roles of key scientists military chiefs and political leaders The first book of its kind to provide a global perspective of the arms race this two volume work connects episodes worldwide involving nuclear weapons in a comprehensive narrative fashion Beginning with a discussion of the scientific research of the 1930s and 1940s and the Hiroshima decision the authors focus on five basic themes political dimensions technological developments military and diplomatic strategies and impact The history of the international nuclear arms race is examined within the context of four historical eras America's nuclear monopoly America's nuclear superiority superpower parity and the post Cold War era Information about the historical development of the independent deterrence of Britain France and China as well as the piecemeal deterrence of newcomers Israel India Pakistan and North Korea is also included as is coverage of the efforts aimed at the international control of nuclear weapons and the diplomatic architecture that underpins the global nuclear non proliferation regime      Canada and the Nuclear Arms Race Joseph M. Sisto, 1997 The objective of this thesis is to determine why Canada a state that pioneered nuclear technology and that faced throughout the Cold War the Soviet threat to its national security consistently rejected any opportunity to convert its latent nuclear capability into an indigenous nuclear weapons program The answer to this research question must address a number of explicit contradictions in Canadian foreign policy While Canada has on the one hand rejected the bomb it has on the other hand pursued defence and industrial policies based upon intimate involvement with nuclear weapons Moreover Canada espouses on the one hand a clearly realpolitik view of international relations while on the other hand committing to forging for itself a role as an international peace broker It becomes therefore unclear which theory of international relations could adequately explain this dualism in Canadian policy formulation This thesis argues that power and self interest are not separable from Canada's decision to reject the bomb and that by modifying certain precepts of realist theory we may substantiate the hypotheses that two disincentives to proliferation are at the root of Canada's policies first Canada's political and geographical proximity to the United States and thus a credible U S nuclear umbrella and second prestige where Canada interpreted both the rejection of its nuclear option and its internationalist policies as a sign of independence vis a vis the United States     Pearson and Canada's Role in Nuclear Disarmament and Arms Control Negotiations, 1945-1957 Joseph Levitt, 1993 Lester Pearson was Minister for External Affairs between 1948 and 1957 During this time Canada was a member of two successive United Nations commissions on eliminating or controlling nuclear arms with the United States and the Soviet Union as the main negotiators The goal of these discussions was to reach an agreement on general principles that reflected the strategic needs of each side rather than on the technical details necessary for a treaty While the United States and the Soviet Union played the largest role in the negotiations two other major powers Britain and France allies of the Americans were also at the bargaining table Canada was the only middle power to participate in all negotiations     The Canadian Encyclopedia James H. Marsh, 1999 This edition of The Canadian Encyclopedia is the largest most comprehensive book ever published in Canada for the general reader It is COMPLETE every aspect of Canada from its rock formations to its rock bands is represented here It is UNABRIDGED all of the information in the four red volumes of the famous 1988 edition is contained here in this single volume It has been EXPANDED since 1988 teams of researchers have been diligently fleshing out old entries and recording new ones as a result the text from 1988 has grown by 50% to over 4 000 000 words It has been UPDATED the researchers and contributors worked hard to make the information as current as possible Other words apply to this extraordinary work of scholarship AUTHORITATIVE RELIABLE and READABLE Every entry is compiled by an expert Equally important every entry is written for a Canadian reader from the Canadian point of view The finished work many years in the making and the equivalent of forty average sized books is an extraordinary storehouse of information about our country This book deserves pride of place on the bookshelf in every Canadian Home It is no accident that the cover of this book is based on the Canadian flag For the proud truth is that this volume represents a great national achievement From its formal inception in 1979 this encyclopedia has always represented a vote of faith in Canada in Canada as a separate place whose natural worlds and whose peoples and their achievements deserve to be recorded and celebrated At the start of a new century and a new millennium in an increasingly borderless corporate world that seems ever more hostile to national distinctions and aspirations this Canadian Encyclopedia is offered in a spirit of defiance and of faith in our future The statistics behind this volume are staggering The opening sixty pages list the 250 Consultants the roughly 4 000 Contributors all experts in the field they describe and the scores of researchers editors typesetters proofreaders and others who contributed their skills to this massive project The 2 640 pages incorporate over 10 000 articles and over 4 000 000 words making it the largest some might say the greatest Canadian book ever published There are of course many special features These include a map of Canada a special page comparing the key statistics of the 23 major Canadian cities maps of our cities a variety of tables and photographs and finely detailed illustrations of our wildlife not to mention the colourful informative endpapers But above all the book is encyclopedic which the Canadian Oxford

Dictionary describes as embracing all branches of learning This means that with rare exceptions there is satisfaction for the reader who seeks information on any Canadian subject From the first entry A mari usque ad mare from sea to sea which is Canada's motto and a good description of this volume's range to the Zouaves who mustered in Quebec to fight for the beleaguered Papacy there is the required summary of information clearly and accurately presented For the browser the constant variety of entries and the lure of regular cross references will provide hours of fascination The word encyclopedia derives from Greek expressions alluding to a grand circle of knowledge Our knowledge has expanded immeasurably since the time that one mind could encompass all that was known Yet now Canada's finest scientists academics and specialists have distilled their knowledge of our country between the covers of one volume The result is a book for every Canadian who values learning and values Canada

Canadian Foreign Policy Steven Kendall Holloway, 2006-01-01 Canadian Foreign Policy Defining the National Interest will contribute greatly to intelligent democratic debate about what Canada should do globally Joseph Masciulli St Thomas University

Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis, 1988 Encyclopedia of Arms Control and Disarmament Richard Dean Burns, 1993 Covering antiquity through to the breakup of the Soviet Union this three volume set makes accessible to the general reader the history and processes of international arms control and disarmament The work covers the history of arms control in all regions of the world changing relationships and alliances in the Middle East neutralization of Switzerland international co operation in Latin America the failures of the League of Nations the successes of the United Nations including its tenacity in dismantling the Iraqi nuclear arms capability and many other topics of worldwide importance Misguided Missiles Simon Rosenblum, 1985-01-01 First published in 1985

Misguided Missiles examines the intense controversies surrounding Canadian participation in the development of new weapons systems during the Reagan years Simon Rosenblum demonstrated how these weapons systems were dubious even on their own terms technically economically and strategically Deploying a tremendous depth of research the author shows how Pentagon and defence industry machinations rather than security needs explain the contemporary rise of the cruise missile and Star Wars initiatives Misguided Missiles offers a vital and immediate appreciation of one of the most contentious debates in Canadian national life in the early 1980s Do Justice! Edward F. Sheridan, 1987 The first and only comprehensive collection in English of the significant social statements briefs and letters of the Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops It will be an essential reference work for those interested in Roman Catholic social teaching and in the wider area of social science and its history in Canada Included are six important joint statements of the Conference with other Canadian church leaders The Guide to Canadian Policies on Arms Control, Disarmament, Defence and

Conflict Resolution Canadian Institute for International Peace and Security, Marie-France Desjardins, 1990 This guide reviews major developments in the field of international peace and security from July 1989 to June 1990 and surveys Canadian policy statements and Parliamentary debates Concentrating on the areas specified in the Institute's mandate it covers arms control and disarmament defence and conflict resolution      The Road to Peace Ernie Regehr, Simon Rosenblum, 1988-01-01 In 1988 as the Berlin Wall began to quake and the United States and the Soviet Union prepared to slash their nuclear arsenals Canada's government remained firmly tied to a Cold War vision of the world In this book Regehr and Rosenblum assessed the international strategic situation at the very moment that the superpowers nuclear standoff began to melt away Against the backdrop of significant undertakings to halt the drift towards annihilation the authors find much to criticize in Canadian defence policy complicity in reckless American war fighting strategies undue adherence to organizations such as NATO and NORAD whose justifications were fast disappearing a retrograde approach to defending Arctic sovereignty The Road to Peace is a compelling document that vividly conveys the heady atmosphere of the Cold War's apogee      U.S. Nuclear Weapons in Canada John Clearwater, 1999-10 In a follow up to Canadian Nuclear Weapons the author brings together recently declassified information of nuclear weapons stored stationed or lost in Canada      The Nuclear North Carole Giangrande, 1983      Canada Diane F.
