Richard B. Freeman, Lawrence F. Katz, 2007-12-01 During the past two decades wages of skilled workers in the United States rose while those of unskilled workers fell less educated young men in particular have suffered unprecedented losses in real earnings These twelve original essays explore whether this trend is unique to the United States or is part of a general growth in inequality in advanced countries Focusing on labor market institutions and the supply and demand forces that affect wages the papers compare patterns of earnings inequality and pay differentials in the United States Australia Korea Japan Western Europe and the changing economies of Eastern Europe Cross country studies examine issues such as managerial compensation gender differences in earnings and the relationship of pay to regional unemployment From this rich store of data the contributors attribute changes in relative wages and unemployment among countries both to differences in labor market institutions and training and education systems and to long term shifts in supply and demand for skilled workers These shifts are driven in part by skill biased technological change and the growing internationalization of advanced industrial economies OECD Economic Surveys United States 1988-1989 OECD,1989-01-01 The OECD produces highly sought after annual reviews of Member countries economies and selected non member countries Approximately eighteen surveys are issued during a calendar year Each issue provides a solid analysis of developments in the OECD Economic Surveys Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development,1982 OECD Economic Surveys ,1986

Tug of War Jocelyn Wills,2017-09-04 Selling Earth observation satellites on their abilities to predict and limit adverse environmental change politicians business leaders the media and technology enthusiasts have spent sixty years arguing that space exploration can create a more peaceful prosperous world Capitalist states have also socialized the risk and privatized the profits of the commercial space industry by convincing taxpayers to fund surveillance technologies as necessary components of sovereignty freedom and democracy Jocelyn Wills s Tug of War reminds us that colonizing the cosmos has not only accelerated the arms race but also encouraged government contractors to compete for the military and commercial spoils of surveillance Although Canadians prefer to celebrate their role as purveyors of peaceful space applications Canada has played a pivotal part in the expansion of neoliberal policies and surveillance networks that now encircle the globe primarily as a political ally of the United States and component supplier for its military industrial complex Tracing the forty five year history of Canada s largest space company MacDonald Dettwiler and Associates MDA through the lens of surveillance studies and a trove of oral history transcripts government documents trade journals and other sources Wills places capitalism's imperial ambitions squarely at the centre of Canada US relations and the privatization of the Canadian political economy Tug of War confronts the mythic lure of technological progress and the ways in which those who profess little interest in war rationalize their leap into military contracting by avoiding the moral and political implications of their work

Welfare and Work in the Open Economy: Volume II: Diverse Responses to Common Challenges in Twelve Countries Fritz W. Scharpf, Vivien A. Schmidt, 2000-09-07 In this ground breaking two volume study of the adjustment of advanced welfare states to international economic pressures leading scholars detail the wide variety of responses in twelve countries Rejecting any notion of convergence to some kind of neo liberal orthodoxy they find that most countries have remained true to the basic features of their postwar model as they have liberalized Moreover within different welfare state constellations while some countries are still struggling to adjust others have reached a new sustainable equilibrium Volume I presents comparative analyses of differences in countries vulnerabilities and capabilities the effectiveness of the policy responses and the role of values and discourse in the politics of adjustment Volume II presents in depth analyses of the experiences of Australia Austria Belgium Denmark France Germany Italy the Netherlands New Zealand Sweden Switzerland and the United Kingdom as well as special studies on the participation of women in the labour market early retirement the liberalization of public services and international tax competition
