Canada Landscape Of Dreams:

Canada Roberta Bondar, 2006-06-15 Canada Christine Yankou, 2002 Filipino Migrants and the Canadian Dream Geraldina Polanco, 2025-11-11

Filipino Migrants and the Canadian Dream explores the power of the Canadian dream and how this social imaginary is leveraged by various institutional actors across transnational networks to govern mobility and work in the bottom tiers of a globalized labour market. The book focuses specifically on the migration management and governance of skilled Filipino workers recruited for entry level fast food positions in Western Canada. Drawing on ethnographic fieldwork conducted in both Western Canada and the Philippines, the book examines how migration institutions and social actors shape migrant aspirations, constructing cultural narratives of nations that influence people's decisions to migrate. Using Tim Hortons, a beloved Canadian institution, as a case study, the book illustrates how the Canadian dream and its implied promises are harnessed inadvertently at different stages of the migration process to propel mobility or fulfil profit-driven goals. The analysis highlights how a range of actors, states, corporations, employers, recruiters, diaspora communities, and migrants themselves contribute to the creation and circulation of these dreams. Ultimately, the book demonstrates that the social imaginary must be unpacked across global circuits, spaces, and scales to fully understand how temporary labour programs operate within the context of a neoliberal economy.

Beyond the Hills of Dream Wilfred Campbell, 2019-12-16

Beyond the Hills of Dream is a vivid exploration of the intersection between imagination and reality, framed within the lush landscapes of the Ontario countryside. Employing a lyrical and evocative style, Campbell weaves folklore and myth with a rich tapestry of nature, utilizing symbolism to underscore the themes of longing, existential inquiry, and the struggle between aspiration and earthly limitations. Written during the late 19th century, this collection of poetry reflects the burgeoning Canadian literary scene, synthesizing Romanticism's emotional depth with the emerging nationalistic sentiments of the time. Wilfred Campbell (1858-1918) was a pivotal figure in Canadian literature, known for his passionate advocacy for a uniquely Canadian voice. His experiences as a writer, journalist, and public figure deeply informed his poetic worldview, inspiring him to delve into the complexities of identity and belonging inherent in the Canadian landscape. Campbell's connection to nature and his acute awareness of the socio-political climate of his time are evident in this collection, making his work resonate with contemporary audiences seeking authenticity and depth. I highly recommend Beyond the Hills of Dream to readers who appreciate poetry that marries emotional introspection with the natural world's beauty. This work not only stands as a testament to Campbell's literary prowess but also invites readers to embark on a reflective journey encouraging a profound connection to the landscapes of both the mind and the soul. Canada Christine Yankou, 2002 The Canada Year Book Canada.
