Canadian Alphabet, 1960 Canadian Alphabet Bernard Amtmann (Firm), 1957 The Frontier and Canadian Letters Wilfrid Eggleston, 1977-01-01 A blend of social sciences history and literary analyses of contemporaries such as A G Bailey and E K Brown this work was a turning point in Canadian literary criticism at the very time of an unprecedented expansion in Canadian studies Rockefeller, Carnegie, and Canada Jeffrey Brison, 2005-12-01 In the first half of the twentieth century the Rockefeller Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation helped to create and maintain a cultural and intellectual infrastructure in Canada that benefited key institutions such as University of Toronto McGill University the National Gallery the Humanities Research Council of Canada and the Canadian Social Science Research Council Jeffrey Brison documents how American philanthropy facilitated the transformation from a private localized system of cultural intellectual and academic patronage to a complex nation based system of incorporated patronage a system in which the major patron was the federal state His study calls into question our essentialistic notions of contrasting national identities and the now mythologized juxtaposition of an American culture fueled by the free market with a Canadian one sustained by state support Catalogue Arctic Institute of North America. Library, 1968 Icelandic Voice in Canadian Letters Daisy Neijmann, 1996-03-15 This fascinating study explores a remarkable ethnic Canadian literature in close textual and contextual terms for the first time It lays a groundwork for future comparative research in the field of ethnic Canadian studies and challenges assumptions about cultural identity and human experience of the new Crerar's Lieutenants Geoffrey Hayes, 2017-07-12 In 1943 General Harry Crerar penned a memorandum in which he noted that there was still much confusion as to what constitutes an Officer His words reflected the army's preoccupation with creating an ideal officer who would not only meet the immediate demands of war but also be able to conform to notions of social class and masculinity Drawing on a wide range of sources and exploring the issue of leadership through new lenses this book looks at how the army selected and trained its junior officers after 1939 to embody the new ideal It finds that these young men through the mentors they copied the correspondence they left even the songs they sang practised a temperate heroism that distinguished them from the idealized heroic visions of officership from the First World War Fascinating and highly original this book sheds new light on the challenges many junior officers faced during the Second World War not only on the battlefield but from Canadians often conflicted views about social class and gender Canadian History and Literature Harvard University.
