Canadian Criminology:

Canadian Criminology John Winterdyk, 2019-10-14 The most engaging informative and student friendly introduction to criminology that explores how theory and research connect to real events and issues Canadian Criminology draws on theory topical examples and the latest research and statistics to help students think critically about how we define criminal acts why these acts occur and what Canadian society should do about crime The Canadian Criminal Justice System Nick Larsen, 1995 The administration of justice is an area of social policy that defies attempts to achieve a balance between order and the protection of the public and respect for individual rights The media contain daily accounts of the failure of the criminal justice system to repress crime It is within this social and legal context that this work is situated In addition to including a range of articles in the standard areas of policing courts and corrections recent articles deal with such controversial issues as aboriginal justice the recruitment of visible minorities by Canadian police forces and the role of women in the Canadian criminal justice system The collection concludes with a critical assessment of the retributive model that currently serves as the philosophical underpinnings of the Canadian criminal justice system Critical Criminology in Canada Aaron Doyle, 2011-01-01 This book presents the work of a new generation of critical criminologists who explore the geographical institutional and political contexts of the discipline in Canada Breaking away from mainstream criminology and law and order discourses the authors offer a spectrum of theoretical approaches to criminal justice from governmentality to feminist criminology from critical realism to anarchism and they propose novel approaches to topics ranging from genocide to white collar crime By posing crucial questions and attempting to define what criminology should be this book will shape debates about crime policing and punishment for years to come Canadian Criminology Margaret Jackson, Curt Taylor Griffiths, Alison Hatch, 1991 Pioneers in Canadian Criminology John Winterdyk, 2017-04-21 This unique book edited by John Winterdyk of Mount Royal University includes insightful profiles and first person accounts of the men and women who have shaped Canadian criminology and criminal justice from colonial times to the present Intriguing memoirs by Patricia L Brantingham and Paul J Brantingham Ezzat Fattah Arlene Gaudreault Jim Hackler Marc Le Blanc Irvin Waller Jo Anne Wemmers provide a ringside seat to the evolution of criminology and related disciplines and sub disciplines including criminal justice victimology and the study of corrections and policing In addition the contributions of numerous other pioneers are also profiled in contributions by respected scholars these include such giants of the field as Jean Paul Brodeur Anthony Doob Richard Ericson Tadeusz Grygier Gwynne Nettler Andre Normandeau Dennis Szabo and many others Adding further value and interest are four thematic chapters Ritesh Dalip Narayan discusses pioneers of the Canadian legal system Joshua Murphy and Curt Taylor Griffiths examine key contributors to the study and practice of policing Rick Ruddell provides an overview of important figures in corrections while Steven Kohm and Michael Weinrath consider the development and proliferation of programs in criminology and criminal justice at the post secondary level Lisa Monchalin has contributed an

Jeffrey Ross, 2017-09-29 Many people consider Canada particularly in comparison to its southern cousin as a peaceable kingdom. However, as the historical record demonstrates, Canadians have never been a thoroughly non-violent people. Violence in Canada highlights from an interdisciplinary perspective the major areas and contexts where violence takes place. Consisting of thirteen contributions, the book forms an indispensable guide to the subject. All of the authors are experts in their field, many with international reputations, and are drawn from the fields of sociology, political science, history, and criminology. The foreword by Ted Robert Gurr, author of Violence in America, is followed by an historical analysis of violence on the Canadian western frontier. Other scholars describe contemporary violence by and against indigenous peoples, women, children, and the elderly in labor-related disputes, homicide, police and prison violence, terrorism, and discuss government responses and policy implications. Each chapter specifically addresses the sociological and political dimensions of violence. The authors make ample use of statistics and empirical research. Jeffrey Ian Ross's introduction outlines the sociopolitical dynamics of violence, and his summary chapter offers directions for future research. When the book was first published in 1995, it was widely praised by scholarly journals and has since become a standard text in the study of violence and modern Canadian cultural studies. The book is all the more valuable as its new introduction places its findings in the context of research that has been produced since the original publication. Violence in Canada will be of interest to sociologists, criminologists, and political scientists. Jeffrey Ian Ross is an associate professor in the Division of Criminology, Criminal Justice, and Social Policy, and fellow with the Center for Comparative and International Law, University of Baltimore. His work has appeared in many academic journals and chapters in academic texts, as well as articles in popular magazines in Canada and the United States. He is the author, co-author, editor, or co-editor of eight books. Ted Robert Gurr is Distinguished University Professor at the University of Maryland. Among his books are Why Men Rebel and Violence in America. Canadian Criminal Justice Today Frank Schmalleger, 2000 National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1971 First multi-year cumulation covers six years 1965-70 The New Criminologies in Canada Thomas Fleming, Thomas O'Reilly-Fleming, 1985 Canadian Books in Print, 2003 Directory of Associations in Canada, 1995
