Canadian Political Parties In The Constituencies A Local Perspective:

Canadian Political Parties in the Constituencies R. Kenneth Carty, Canada. Royal Commission on Electoral Reform and Party Financing, 1991 Election Broadcasting In Canada Frederick J. Fletcher, 1991-01-01 Election Broadcasting in Canada explores the role of media in Canadian politics David R Spencer David Hogarth Catherine M Bolan and others look at the history legal framework and difficulties in election broadcasting as well as the impact of new broadcasting services

Canadian Political Parties Herman Bakvis, 1991-06 Royal Commission on Electoral Reform and Party Financing Local Campaign Behaviour in Canadian Elections Jacob Robbins-Kanter, 2025-08-07 Local Campaign Behaviour in Canadian Elections investigates the relationship between the local and national components of Canadian political parties Jacob Robbins Kanter emphasizes the significance of local campaigns often overlooked by scholars voters and the media and examines when and why these campaigns deviate from national directives during federal elections Grounded in original data the book explores the intricate dynamics between local campaigns and central party headquarters during Canadian elections highlighting their cooperation clashes and divergences It reveals the prevalence of undisciplined local campaign behaviour and the underestimated agency of local actors The book argues that local campaigns retain meaningful agency to make critical decisions influence election outcomes and articulate local interests Drawing on nearly 100 interviews primary source documents and data collected as an embedded researcher during the 2019 federal election Robbins Kanter delves into the practice of undisciplined local campaign behaviour which often challenges or diverges from central party directives Local Campaign Behaviour in Canadian Elections presents a nuanced portrayal of local actors positioning them as neither entirely autonomous nor merely instruments of a central party apparatus Representation, Integration, and Political Parties in Canada Herman Bakvis, Canada. Royal Commission on Electoral Reform and Party Financing, 1991 This document provides a comparative study of parties as national institutions It discusses parties as institutions of national governance links between federal and provincial parties and party systems parties and regional representation Canada in comparative perspective concerning party competition and electoral volatility the personal vote in Canada inexperienced Ministers from 1949 1990 and the consequences of electoral volatility new politics the Charter and political participation and incentives created by the institutions of representative democracy It provides figures in support of the above topics Inside the Local Campaign Alex Marland, Thierry Giasson, 2022-07-22 Inside the Local Campaign reveals what goes on in constituency campaigns during a Canadian election It brings to light the key roles of candidates and their supporters on the ground in an election and demonstrates that local electioneering matters For decades the media has focused primarily on the national campaign and party leaders and the practice of canvassing for votes by candidates and their supporters has been seen as more tradition than science But things have evolved in the age of digital media Local level campaigning is more fashionable and critical for gathering data that can be used post election Inside the Local Campaign provides an up to date look at local level campaigning during a Canadian federal election Using the 2021 federal campaign as an anchor an impressive collection of authors and practitioners discusses local level campaigning in electoral districts across the country highlights local trends and on the ground roles and discloses hidden details about how local campaigns are run The Political Party in Canada William P. Cross, Scott Pruyers, Rob Currie-Wood, 2022-11-01 Political parties exist at the centre of democratic politics but where does power lie within them and how is it exercised The Political Party in Canada explores the inner workings of these complex organizations through an examination of the composition and roles of key party actors members and activists candidates local associations donors central officials and members of Parliament as well as the interactions between them Contemporary parties play a key role in recruiting and selecting candidates and leaders waging election campaigns and organizing legislatures Drawing on a rich trove of data from the 2015 and 2019 federal elections this book offers a comprehensive examination of the composition functions activities and power sharing relationships that characterize Canadian parties The authors focus not only on which groups are included in decision making but also on what power and authority rest with each level of the parties respective structures Basing its astute investigation on the themes of complexity representation and personalization The Political Party in Canada provides important insights into a fundamental institution that makes modern democracy possible Polls and the Media in Canadian Elections Guy Lachapelle, Canada. Royal Commission on Electoral Reform and Party Financing, 1991 This document presents a comprehensive overview of published campaign polls in many democratic countries It reports that while direct regulation of polls is rare there is growing concern about their influence It examines regulations now in place and others that have been proposed It also examines the professional codes of the World Association for Public Opinion Research and of many national organizations including those formulated by news organizations It discusses the attempts of polling organizations and the news media to establish mechanisms of self regulation Issues in Party and Election Finance in Canada F. Leslie Seidle, Canada. Royal Commission on Electoral Reform and Party Financing, 1991 This document contains papers on the following topics an evaluation of disclosure arrangements in Canadian political finance some evidence on the effects of incumbency in the 1988 Canadian federal election official agents in Canadian elections electoral competition campaign expenditure and incumbency advantage capital intensive politics public funding of political parties candidates and elections in Canada independent candidates in federal general elections large contributions to candidates in the 1988 federal election and the issues of undue influence and an economic analysis of the funding of political parties in Canada Provincial Party and Election Finance in Canada F. Leslie Seidle, Canada. Royal Commission on Electoral Reform and Party Financing, 1991 This document discusses party financing in Quebec with an analysis of the financial report of parties 1977-89 initiatives and challenges to the Ontario party and campaign finance system paying for the politics of British Columbia the evolution of political financing regulation in New Brunswick and party financing in Alberta focusing on low impact legislation Canadian Books in Print 2002 Edited by

Butler Marian, Marian Butler, 2002-02 Containing more than 48000 titles of which approximately 4000 have a 2001 imprint the author and title index is extensively cross referenced It offers a complete directory of Canadian publishers available listing the names and ISBN prefixes as well as the street e mail and web addresses The Government and Politics of Ontario Graham White, 1997 Now in its fifth edition this textbook is the standard authority on the government and politics of Ontario Ideal for undergraduate students it provides general background information discusses government institutions and covers key issues on the political scene such as the role of the media women in politics and the North Extensively revised and updated to reflect the experiences of the NDP government and the early Harris era this edition also features a new section on change and continuity in the Ontario political system Reforming Electoral Democracy: Without special title Canada. Royal Commission on Electoral Reform and Party Financing, 1991 Reforming Electoral Democracy Canada. Royal Commission on Electoral Reform and Party Financing, 1991 Politics is Local R. Kenneth Carty, Munroe Eagles, 2005 Politics is Local examines a critical but often neglected aspect of party politics the local Virtually everything available on parties and elections in Canada focuses on parties as national organizations yet most Canadians operate in their individual communities and their associations are driven by the idiosyncratic patterns of community life in Canada The authors examine the local dimension of party politics its organization structure and activity patterns The book explores several dimensions of local politics and demonstrates that parties are deeply rooted in local communities and that the shape of these many communities profoundly structures political life Making Representative Democracy Work André Blais, Elisabeth Gidengil, Canada. Royal Commission on Electoral Reform and Party Financing, 1991 A Royal Commission was formed to take into account public concerns regarding the electoral process It conducted a number of public opinion surveys to assess citizen attitudes regarding electoral reform This document contains the results of these consultations It discusses Canadians political values Canadians beliefs about politicians parties and money attitudes about the representative process electoral finance and electoral communication and an overall evaluation of electoral procedures It includes tables on the above topics Comparative Issues in Party and Election Finance F. Leslie Seidle, 1991-01-01 This book is one of 23 volumes of research commissioned by the Royal Commission on Electoral Reform and Party Financing and one of five volumes within this series dealing specifically with party and election finance Because the issue of money in elections is as old as democracy the experience of other countries is instructive The studies in this volume offer Canadians information about approaches to funding political parties and elections in the United States and Western Europe The studies by Herbert Alexander and Robert Mutch examine how the United States has approached issues such as contribution limits and the disclosure of election finances The latter study provides explicit comparisons to Canada noting the constitutional role of the Supreme Court in each country Jane Jenson draws on Western European experience to propose and assess reforms for the public funding for party foundations is documented by Michael Pinto Duschinsky The studies approach their material from a historical perspective noting the uniqueness of the constitutions institutions and traditions of the countries reviewed The authors provide background essential to any consideration of whether foreign experience might serve as a model for Canada Reporting the Campaign Frederick J. Fletcher, Canada. Royal Commission on Electoral Reform and Party Financing, 1991 The objective of the research program was to provide Commissioners with a full account of the factors that have shaped the electoral democracy This document presents discussions on the following topics journalistic practice in covering federal election campaigns in Canada relations between political parties and the media in Quebec election campaigns free to be responsible the accountability of the print media smaller voices minor parties campaign communication and the news media and the mass media and the reproduction of marginalization Drawing the Map David Small, Canada. Royal Commission on Electoral Reform and Party Financing, 1991 At the heart of the Canadian system of representative government are question of redistribution and boundary adjustment Together they determine the basis on which citizens elect those who govern This document presents information on Canadian Constitutional standards for electoral distribution and districting apportionment districting and representation in the United States community of interest in redistricting the role of electors in boundary adjustment in enhancing relative vote equality in Canada ecological communities and constituency districting representation in modern Canada and enhancing aboriginal representation within the existing system of redistricting Renegotiating the Bargain Rob Currie-Wood, 2025-09-01 The franchise bargain that once divided Canadian political parties into separate spheres of authority with members on the ground controlling personnel selection and elites at the centre dominating policy and branding decisions has been displaced Renegotiating the Bargain explains why parties have reformed their internal decision making structures and shows how the new arrangement operates Rob Currie Wood draws on in depth interviews with current and former party officials party governance documents and election financing reports to trace organizational reform within Canadian parties since the end of the twentieth century Rank and file members increasingly possess the same participatory rights as long time activists and elected officials but the central apparatus has also acquired the capacity to regulate membership participation in key areas of policy development leadership selection candidate nominations and campaigning Renegotiating the Bargain demonstrates not only the formation of this power sharing arrangement within parties but also how party democracy works in practice Its findings show that parties remain meaningful sites of civic participation in Canada s democratic life
