Canadian Travellers In Europe 1851 1900:

Canadian Travellers in Europe, 1851-1900 Eva-Marie Kroller, 2011-11-01 This book provides both a detailed survey of Canadian travel writing in the nineteenth century and an unusual perspective on Canadian cultural history The Canadians who wrote about their experiences abroad during the era of mass travel which followed the advent of the steamship reveal much about themselves and their own country as well Who were these travellers why did they travel and what did they expect to see In answering these questions Eva Marie Kroller draws upon a wide variety of materials novels guide books magazines newspapers photographs paintings and previously unpublished letters and diaries The self assured progress of the privileged Canadian travellers often turned into introspective voyages of self discovery For one thing Europeans often mistook them for Americans and many had to ask themselves what it really meant to be Canadian In addition the tone of moral earnestness which pervades the early travellers tales begins to give way to a certain world weariness by the end In Canada and elsewhere the tourist was a new phenomenon at the beginning of the period but an accepted part of the modern world by the end of it Canadian Travellers in Europe will be required reading for devotees of travel writing but it is also a significant contribution to nineteenth century Canadian history

Maps of Difference Wendy Roy, 2005 As well as providing vivid and sympathetic accounts of geography peoples and cultures three women writers use their books to chart their own historical and social positions In Maps of Difference Wendy Roy explores the ways in which Anna Jameson Mina Hubbard and Margaret Laurence were attuned to the cultural imperialism underlying their travel writing Roy considers the connections Jameson makes between feminism and anti racism in Winter Studies and Summer Rambles in Canada 1838 Hubbard's insights in A Woman's Way Through Unknown Labrador 1908 into her relationship with First Nations men who had both more and less power than she and Laurence's awareness of colonial and patriarchal oppression in her African memoir The Prophet's Camel Bell 1963 Roy also examines archival and First Nations accounts of these women's travels and the sketches photos and maps that accompany their writing to examine contradictions in and question the implied objectivity of travel narratives She concludes by looking at the myth of getting there first and the ways in which new technologies of representation including cameras allow travellers and writers to claim new travel firsts

Canadian Women in Print, 1750-1918 Carole Gerson, 2011-05-24 Canadian Women in Print 1750 1918 is the first historical examination of women's engagement with multiple aspects of print over some two hundred years from the settlers who wrote diaries and letters to the New Women who argued for ballots and equal rights Considering women's published writing as an intervention in the public sphere of national and material print culture this book uses approaches from book history to address the working and living conditions of women who wrote in many genres and for many reasons This study situates English Canadian authors within an extensive framework that includes francophone writers as well as women's work as compositors bookbinders and interveners in public access to print Literary authorship is shown to be one point on a spectrum that ranges from missionary writing temperance advocacy and educational texts to journalism and travel accounts by New Woman adventurers Familiar figures such as Susanna Moodie L M Montgomery Nellie McClung Pauline Johnson and Sara Jeannette Duncan are contextualized by writers whose names are less well known such as Madge Macbeth and Agnes Laut and by many others whose writings and biographies have vanished into the recesses of history Readers will learn of the surprising range of writing and publishing performed by early Canadian women under various ideological biographical and cultural motivations and circumstances Some expressed reluctance while others eagerly sought literary careers Together they did much more to shape Canada's cultural history than has heretofore been recognized "Women, Femininity and Public Space in European Visual Culture, 1789-1914" Temma Balducci, 2017-07-05 Focusing on images of or produced by well to do nineteenth century European women this volume explores genteel femininity as resistant to easy codification vis is the public Attending to various iterations of the public as space sphere and discourse sixteen essays challenge the false binary construct that has held the public as the sole preserve of prosperous men By contrast the essays collected in Women Femininity and Public Space in European Visual Culture 1789 1914 demonstrate that definitions of both femininity and the public were mutually defining and constantly shifting In examining the relationship between affluent women femininity and the public the essays gathered here consider works by an array of artists that includes canonical ones such as Mary Cassatt and Francis Grant as well as understudied women artists including Louise Abbott and Broncia Koller. The essays also consider works in a range of media from fashion prints and paintings to private journals and architectural designs facilitating an analysis of femininity in public across the cultural production of the period. Various European centers including Madrid, Florence, Paris, Brittany, Berlin, and London emerge as crucial sites of production for genteel femininity, providing a long overdue rethinking of modern femininity in the public sphere. Women, Femininity and Public Space in European Visual Culture, 1789-1914 Dr Temma Balducci, Asst Prof Heather Belnap Jensen, 2014-11-28. Focusing on images of or produced by nineteenth century European women, this volume explores genteel femininity as resistant to easy codification vis-à-vis the public. Attending to various iterations of the public as space, sphere, and discourse, sixteen essays challenge the false binary construct that has held the public as the sole preserve of prosperous men. By considering works in a range of media by an array of canonical and understudied women artists, they demonstrate that definitions of both femininity and the public were mutually defining and constantly shifting. Modernity and Meaning in Victorian London Joseph De Sapio, 2014-06-11. Joseph De Sapio examines how individuals not only understood their contacts with industrial modernity as distinct from the inherited traditional rhythms of the eighteenth century but how they conceived of their own positions within the increasingly sophisticated political, social, and commercial paradigms of the Victorian years. Canadian Writers Before 1890 William H. New, 1990. Profiles approximately one hundred Canadian writers from the seventeenth century through 1890, presenting primary and secondary bibliographies and illustrated biographical essays that chronicle each writer's career in detail. Images of Central Europe in Travelogues and Fiction by North American Writers Waldemar Zacharasiewicz, 1995. Canadian Review of Comparative Literature, 1993. Canadiana, 1991. A Bibliography of East European Travel Writing on Europe Wendy Bracewell, Alex Drace-Francis, 2008-02-10. The bibliography volume of the three volume East Looks West: East European Travel Writing in Europe collates travel writing published in book form by east Europeans travelling in Europe from ca 1550 to 2000. It is intended as a fundamental research tool, collecting together travel writings within each national linguistic tradition and enabling comparative analysis of such material. It fills an important gap in the existing reference literature, both in western and east European languages, and will be of use to those working in the growing fields of comparative travel writing, regional and national identities, and postcolonialism. These texts exist in surprisingly large numbers and include writings of high literary quality as well as of historical interest, but they have been relatively little studied as a genre. Much of this material is rare and difficult to find, even in national libraries. As a result, there are few bibliographical surveys of the literature of east European travel and self-representation, and none that are region-wide or comparative in scope. This is the third volume of a three-part set of East Looks West. Vol 1: Orientations: An Anthology of East European Travel Writing on Europe. Vol 2: Under Eastern Eyes: A Comparative Introduction to East European Travel Writing on Europe. Cumulative Bibliography of Victorian Studies, 1970. The Canadian Encyclopedia: Edu-Min, 1988.
