New Perspectives on International Migration and Development Jeronimo Cortina, Enrique Ochoa-Reza, 2013-07-16 With contributions from leading scholars in international development economics political science and sociology this collection draws attention to migration's developmental impacts on sending and receiving societies. Through current case studies contributors examine the interplay among migration development culture family reunification human rights and government all with the aim of advancing more effective solutions to international migration issues. The volume's multidisciplinary perspective combines theoretical discussions with empirical applications appealing to both academics and policymakers eager to maximize migration's developmental impacts. The collection begins with a discussion detailing when and why migration promotes growth and what kind of indicators beyond GDP should be considered. Challenging a number of misconceptions such as the assumption that redressing poverty and alleviating underdevelopment in immigrant communities are solely economic pursuits contributors acknowledge the inherent cultural dimension in the migration development debate and define the contours of a research program that systematically and comparatively weighs the cultural dynamics of development and migration. They also emphasize the role of human rights in reinforcing positive developmental outcomes how traditional social roles and its developmental impacts are reshaped by the international migration of women and children and international migration's developmental impacts within specific geographic regions.

Our House in the Clouds Judy Blankenship, 2013-03-15 While many baby boomers are downsizing to a simpler retirement lifestyle photographer and writer Judy Blankenship and her husband Michael Jenkins took a more challenging leap in deciding to build a house on the side of a mountain in southern Ecuador. They now live half the year in Cañar an indigenous community they came to know in the early nineties when Blankenship taught photography there. They are the only extranjeros outsiders in this homely chilly town at 10 100 feet where every afternoon a spectacular mass of clouds rolls up from the river valley below and envelopes the town. In this absorbing memoir Blankenship tells the interwoven stories of building their house in the clouds and strengthening their ties to the community. Although she and Michael had spent considerable time in Cañar before deciding to move there they still had much to learn about local customs as they navigated the process of building a house with traditional materials using a local architect and craftspeople Likewise fulfilling their obligations as neighbors in a community based on reciprocity presented its own challenges and rewards Blankenship writes vividly of the rituals of births baptisms marriages festival days and deaths that counterpoint her and Michael s solitary pursuits of reading writing listening to opera playing chess and cooking Their story will appeal to anyone contemplating a second life as well as those seeking a deeper understanding of daily life in the developing world Indian Notes and Monographs ,1924
