Par?evi?, 1997-05-07 One of the first attempts to present a comprehensive study of legal translation this book is an interdisciplinary study in law and translation theory It is not bound to any specific languages or legal systems although emphasis is placed on translation between common law and civil law jurisdictions The main focus is on the translation of texts which are authoritative sources of the law examples are cited primarily from statutes codes and constitutions Canada Switzerland and Belgium as well as instruments of the European Union and international treaties and conventions Dealing with theoretical as well as practical aspects of the subject matter the author analyses legal translation as an act of communication in the mechanism of the law thus making it necessary to redefine the goal of legal translation This book is intended for both lawyers and linguists translation theorists legal translators and drafters legal lexicographers as well as teachers and students of translation Qâmûs Al-iqtiSâd Jerwan Sabek, 1985 Translator's Workbench Marianne

Kugler, Khurshid Ahmad, Gregor Thurmair, 2013-11-09 The Translator's Workbench Project was a European Community sponsored research and development project which dealt with issues in multi lingual communication and documentation This book presents an integrated toolset as a solution to problems in translation and documentation Professional translators and teachers of translation were involved in the process of software development starting with a detailed study of the user requirements and ending with several evaluation and improvement cycles of the resulting toolset English German Greek and Spanish are addressed in the contributions however some of the techniques are inherently language independent and can thus be extended to cover other languages as well Translation can be viewed broadly as the execution of three cognitive processes and this book has been structured along these lines First the translation pre process understanding the target language text at a lexico semantic level on the one hand and making sense of the source language document on the other hand The tools for the pre translation process include access to electronic networks conversion of documents from one format to another creation of terminology data banks and access to existing data banks and terminology dictionaries Second the translation process rendering sentences in the source language into equivalent target sentences The translation process refers to the potential of conventional machine translation systems like METAL and of the statistically oriented translation memory
