Encyclopedia of Diasporas Melvin Ember, Carol R. Ember, Ian Skoggard, 2004-11-30 Immigration is a topic that is as important among anthropologists as it is the general public Almost every culture has experienced adaptation and assimilation when immigrating to a new country and culture usually leaving for what is perceived as a better life Not only does this diaspora change the country of adoption but also the country of origin Many large nations in the world have absorbed and continue to absorb large numbers of immigrants The foreseeable future will see a continuation of large scale immigration as many countries experience civil war and secessionist pressures Currently there is no reference work that describes the impact upon the immigrants and the immigrant societies relevant to the world's cultures and provides an overview of important topics in the world's diasporas The encyclopedia consists of two volumes covering three main sections Diaspora Overviews covers over 20 ethnic groups that have experienced voluntary or forced immigration These essays discuss the history behind the social economic and political reasons for leaving the original countries and the cultures in the new places Topics discusses the impact and assimilation that the immigrant cultures experience in their adopted cultures including the arts they bring the struggles they face and some of the cities that are in the forefront of receiving immigrant cultures Diaspora Communities include over 60 portraits of specific diaspora communities Each portrait follows a standard outline to facilitate comparisons The Encyclopedia of Diasporas can be used both to gain a general understanding of immigration and immigrants and to find out about particular cultures topics and communities It will prove of great value to researchers and students curriculum developers teachers and government officials It brings together the disciplines of anthropology social studies political studies international studies and immigrant and immigration studies

In Visible Movement Urdayoan Noel, 2014-05-01 Since the 1960s Nuyorican poets have explored and performed Puerto Rican identity both on and off the page Emerging within and alongside the civil rights movements of the 1960s the foundational Nuyorican writers sought to counter the ethnic racial and institutional invisibility of New York City Puerto Ricans by documenting the reality of their communities in innovative and sometimes challenging ways Since then Nuyorican poetry has entered the U S Latino literary canon and has gained prominence in light of the spoken word revival of the past two decades a movement spearheaded by the Nuyorican Poetry Slams of the 1990s Today Nuyorican poetry engages with contemporary social issues such as the commodification of the body the institutionalization of poetry the gentrification of the barrio and the national and global marketing of identity What has not changed is a continued shared investment in a poetics that links the written word and the performing body. The first book length study specifically devoted to Nuyorican poetry, In Visible Movement, is unique in its historical and formal breadth, ranging from the foundational poets of the 1960s and 1970s to a variety of contemporary poets emerging in and around the Nuyorican Poets Cafe slam scene of the 1990s and early 2000s. It also unearths a largely unknown corpus of poetry performances reading over forty years of Nuyorican poetry at the intersection of the printed and performed word, underscoring the poetry's links to vernacular and Afro Puerto Rican performance cultures from the island's oral poets to the New York sounds and rhythms of Latin boogaloo, salsa and hip hop. With depth and insight, Urayo n Noel analyzes various canonical Nuyorican poems by poets such as Pedro Pietri, Victor Hernandez Cruz, Miguel Algarín, Miguel Piñero, Sandra Mar a Esteves and Tato Laviera. He discusses historically overlooked poets such as Lorraine Sutton, innovative poets typically read outside the Nuyorican tradition such as Frank Lima and Edwin Torres, and a younger generation of Nuyorican identified poets including Willie Perdomo, Mar a Teresa Mariposa, Fernández and Emanuel Xavier, whose work has received only limited critical consideration. The result is a stunning reflection of how New York Puerto Rican poets have addressed the complexity of identity amid diaspora for over forty years.

Perspectives of Diaspora Existence Balázs Balogh, Zoltán Ilyés, 2006
Migration and diaspora studies have been emphatically present in social science discourse for decades. Perspectives of Diaspora Existence sheds light on the conceptual dichotomy of diaspora vs the Hungarian term szrvny, examining the differences in their content, use and historical interpretation. This uniquely Hungarian diaspora concept was historically constructed in the Carpathian Basin and has been integrated into Hungarian national discourses. A conference titled Regionality, Community Building, Diaspora Maintenance, International Cooperation in the Diaspora Issue was held in Romania in June 2006. Beyond conceptual clarifications of the diaspora problem in social sciences, the conference also presented the various findings of different humanities disciplines in the field of diaspora research. Perspectives of Diaspora Existence provides a faithful representation of the comprehensive and inter disciplinary dialog from the conference through a selection of studies based on The Mission and Expansion of Christianity in the First Three Centuries Adolf von Harnack, 1908.
