Bailey, 1985 Major Characters in American Fiction Jack Salzman, Pamela Wilkinson, 2014-09-23 Major Characters in American Fiction is the perfect companion for everyone who loves literature students book group members and serious readers at every level Developed at Columbia University's Center for American Culture Studies Major Characters in American Fiction offers in depth essays on the lives of more than 1 500 characters figures as varied in ethnicity class sexual orientation age and experience as we are Inhabiting fictional works written from 1790 to 1991 the characters are presented in biographical essays that tell each one's life story They are drawn from novels and short stories that represent every era genre and style of American fiction writing Natty Bumppo of The Leatherstocking Tales Celie of The Color Purple and everyone in between Comic Sense Thomas Pughe, 2013-03-09 The idea for this study came to me in the course of my reading of innovative US American fiction of the last three decades I observed that much of it is cast in the comic mode or more precisely that there seems to be in contemporary fiction an affinity between innovation and the comic and that this affinity furthermore appears to be characteristic of postmodernism It is obvious at the same time that comic has become an elusive and more often than not a disputable category Frederick Karl in his survey of American Fictions 1940-1980 maintains for instance that much comic writing consists in ridicule that lacks deeper intellectual and cultural roots Wit and mockery he notes by themselves have little lasting value Even in the best of such fiction Gravity's Rainbow one is made aware of attenuated skits stitched onto previous segments rather than baked in by a defined point of view Karl 27 Such assessments of course challenge my view that the comic is in significant ways connected with what is innovative in postmodernist US American fiction Yet the term comic or related terms like humour parody irony and so forth is regularly and heavily employed in discussions or reviews of contemporary fiction

Shouting Down the Silence David C Dougherty, 2010-10-01 Shouting Down the Silence presents the first complete biography of Stanley Elkin a preeminent novelist who consistently won high marks from critics but whose complexities of style seemed destined to elude the popular acclaim he hoped to attain From the publication of his second novel A Bad Man in 1967 to his death in 1995 Elkin was tormented by the desire for both material and artistic success Elkin's novels were taught in colleges and universities his fiction received high praise from critics and reviewers two of his novels won National Book Critics Circle Awards and his short stories were widely anthologized and yet he was unable to achieve renown beyond the avant garde or to escape the stigma of being an academic writer He wanted to be Faulkner but he had trouble being Elkin Drawing on personal interviews and an intimate knowledge of Elkin's life and works David C Dougherty captures Elkin's early life as the son of a charismatic intimidating and remarkably successful Jewish immigrant from Russia as well as his later career at Washington University in St Louis A frequent participant at the annual Bread Loaf Writers conference he was the friend and sometime antagonist of other important writers particularly Saul Bellow William Gass Howard Nemerov and Robert Coover Despite failed attempts to bridge the gap from his academic post to wide popular success Elkin continued to write essays stories and novels that garnered unerring praise His was a classic dilemma of an intellectual aesthete loath to make use of the common devices of popular appeal The book details the ambition the success the friction and the foibles of a writer who won fame but not the fame he wanted
