A Clash of Transitions Olga Strietska-Ilina, 2007

In March 2000 at the European Council meeting in Lisbon the European Union heads of states set an ambitious goal to become the most competitive and dynamic knowledge based economy in the world Such a goal requires major reforms of the societies and economies of the EU member states This book explores the effects of these reforms on the eight Central and Eastern European countries that entered the EU in May 2004 Since 1989 these countries have been going through a major transformation to the market economy and democratic society A Clash of Transitions attempts to answer how the societies and people can cope with multiple transitions This volume is useful for courses on education Central and Eastern Europe and European studies

Turkey and the European Union Selcen Öner, 2011-02-16 European identity has always been in a state of construction With the creation of the European Union however this construction now takes place within an institutional framework introducing a number of new variables Selcen Öner's Turkey and the European Union The Question of European Identity is an in depth analysis of the influence of these two entities on each others identity as Europeans in a society of increasing social political and cultural connectedness The mutual influence between Turks and Europeans gained significant momentum in 1999 when the European Union granted official candidate status to Turkey at that year's Helsinki Summit Turkey's Europeanness is still being debated despite the official stance that fulfilling the Copenhagen criteria and adopting the EU acquis are enough for being a full member of the EU These debates have even lead to arguments between political elites of the European Union about their privileged partnership with Turkey When comparing the attitudes of the European Union towards Turkey versus those towards Central and Eastern Europe one could argue that that return to Europe discourse has accelerated the membership of the latter but not the former Currently Turkey is neither considered an other nor a member of the family Rather Turkey is commonly relegated to the role of crucial neighbor or strategic partner by the political elites of the EU Öner's study analyzes a series of interviews conducted with several members of the European Parliament and sheds serious light on the fact that discussions on Turkey's membership in terms of her Europeanness reveal countless ambiguities in defining European identity It is clear that there is no common understanding or definition of European identity even amongst political leaders in the EU who challenge Turkey's authenticity as a member of European society Thus Selcen Öner's Turkey and the European Union The Question of European

Identity argues that the position of Turkey vis vi The Guns of Europe Joseph Alexander Altsheler,1915 Looking to Europe Jens Henrik Haahr,1993 Will membership in the European Community stand in the way of social democratic reform strategies Are EC market liberalisations threatening national social democratic achievements Questions like these have characterised the sceptical approach of many Western European social democratic parties to European integration Not least this has been the case in Britain and Denmark two of the most reluctant EC member states Yet by the early 1990s both the British Labour Party and the Danish Social Democrats had developed policies on the European Community advocating a strengthening of the EC in a number of respects The book examines the reasons for this development The analysis demonstrates that the two parties increasingly positive attitude towards a strengthened EC constitutes a political result of the ever growing economic interconnectedness in Western Europe The development also results from the unwillingness of social democratic parties to halt European integration at the market liberalist objective of the Single European Market
