Destroying The Village Eisenhower And Thermonuclear War:

Destroying the Village Campbell Craig,1998 In the early days of the Cold War thermonuclear conflict was everywhere an imminent threat With the realization that mutual destruction was the likely result of a nuclear war US policy makers were forced to articulate a coherent stance on what they would do if the United States went to war with the USSR The paradox of defeat or mutual annihilation was one that plagued American policy makers and scholars whatever their stated position

The Myth of the Nuclear Revolution Keir A. Lieber,Daryl G. Press,2020-06-15 Leading analysts have predicted for decades that nuclear weapons would help pacify international politics The core notion is that countries protected by these fearsome weapons can stop competing so intensely with their adversaries they can end their arms races scale back their alliances and stop jockeying for strategic territory But rarely have theory and practice been so opposed Why do international relations in the nuclear age remain so competitive Indeed why are today s major geopolitical rivalries intensifying In The Myth of the Nuclear Revolution Keir A Lieber and Daryl G Press tackle the central puzzle of the nuclear age the persistence of intense geopolitical competition in the shadow of nuclear weapons They explain why the Cold War superpowers raced so feverishly against each other why the creation of mutual assured destruction does not ensure peace and why the rapid technological changes of the 21st century will weaken deterrence in critical hotspots around the world By explaining how the nuclear revolution falls short Lieber and Press discover answers to the most pressing questions about deterrence in the coming decades how much capability is required for a reliable nuclear deterrent how conventional conflicts may become nuclear wars and how great care is required now to prevent new technology from ushering in an age of nuclear instability

Eisenhower's Nuclear Calculus in Europe Gates Brown,2018-11-30 Through a reliance on nuclear weapons President Eisenhower hoped to provide a defense strategy that would allow the U S to maintain its security requirements without creating an economic burden This defense strategy known as the New Look benefited the U S Air Force with its focus on strategic nuclear weapons The U S also required European missile bases to deploy their intermediate range ballistic missiles while efforts continued to develop U S based intercontinental ballistic missiles Deploying such missiles to Europe required balancing regional European concerns with U S domestic security priorities In the wake of the Soviet Sputnik launch in 1957 the U S began to fear Soviet missile capabilities Using European missile bases would mitigate this domestic security issue but convincing NATO allies to base the missiles in their countries raised issues of sovereignty and weapons control and ran the risk of creating divisions in the NATO alliance
