Deterrence Before Hiroshima:

Deterrence Before Hiroshima George H. Quester, 1986-01-01 In this study first published in 1966 Quester analyzes pre nuclear age theories of deterrence to equip us with perspective and data by which current theories can be evaluated Quester presents a forceful argument in support of the relevance of history to discussions of military strategy Deterrence Before Hiroshima. The Airpower Background of Modern Strategy George Herman QUESTER, 1966 Complex Deterrence T. V. Paul, Patrick M. Morgan, James J. Wirtz, 2009-09-15 As the costs of a preemptive foreign policy in Iraq have become clear strategies such as containment and deterrence have been gaining currency among policy makers This comprehensive book offers an agenda for the contemporary practice of deterrence especially as it applies to nuclear weapons in an increasingly heterogeneous global and political setting Moving beyond the precepts of traditional deterrence theory this groundbreaking volume offers insights for the use of deterrence in the modern world where policy makers may encounter irrational actors failed states religious zeal ambiguous power relationships and other situations where the traditional rules of statecraft do not apply A distinguished group of contributors here examines issues such as deterrence among the Great Powers the problems of regional and nonstate actors and actors armed with chemical biological and nuclear weapons Complex Deterrence will be a valuable resource for anyone facing the considerable challenge of fostering security and peace in the twenty first century

The Bomb Beatrice Heuser, 2014-09-25 This tightly argued and profoundly thought provoking book tackles a huge subject the coming of the nuclear age with bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki in August 1945 and the ways in which it has changed our lives since Dr Heuser sets these events in their historical context and tackles key issues about the effect of nuclear weapons on modern attitudes to conflict and on the ethics of warfare Ducking nothing she demystifies the subject seeing the bomb not as something unique and paralysing but as an integral part of the strategic and moral context of our time For a wide multidisciplinary and general readership Nuclear Weapons and Cooperative Security in the 21st Century Stephen J. Cimbala, 2009-09-10 This book looks at the prospects for international cooperation over nuclear weapons proliferation in the 21st century Nuclear weapons served as stabilizing forces during the Cold War or the First Nuclear Age on account of their capability for destruction the fear that this created among politicians and publics and the domination of the nuclear world order by two superpowers the United States and the Soviet Union The end of the Cold War the dissolution of the Soviet Union and the potential for nuclear weapons acquisition among revisionist states or even non state actors including terrorists creates the possibility of a wolves eat dogs phenomenon in the present century In the 21st century three forces threaten to undo or weaken the long nuclear peace and fast forward states into a new and more dangerous situation the existence of large US and Russian nuclear weapons arsenals the potential for new technologies including missile defenses and long range precision conventional weapons and a collapse or atrophy of the nuclear nonproliferation regime and the opening of the door for nuclear weapons to spread among more than the currently acknowledged nuclear states This book explains how these three weakening forces interact with one another and with US and Russian policy making in order to create an environment of large possibilities for cooperative security but also of considerable danger. Instead the choices made by military planners and policy makers will create an early twenty first century story privileging nuclear stability or chaos. The US and Russia can and should make incremental progress in arms control and nonproliferation. This book will be of much interest to students of nuclear proliferation and arms control, strategic studies, international security and IR in general. Stephen J Cimbala is Distinguished Professor of Political Science at Pennsylvania State University. He is the author of numerous works in the fields of international security, defense studies, nuclear arms control and other topics. He has consulted for various US government agencies and defense contractors.

Rethinking Cyber Warfare R. David Edelman, 2024

Rethinking Cyber Warfare provides a fresh understanding of the role that digital disruption plays in contemporary international security and proposes a new approach to more effectively restrain and manage cyberattacks.

Nuclear Weapons and Strategy Stephen J. Cimbala, 2006-03-10. Nuclear weapons once thought to have been marginalized by the end of the Cold War have returned with a vengeance to the centre of US security concerns and to a world bereft of the old certainties of deterrence. This is a major analysis of these new strategic realities. The George W Bush administration having deposed the regime of Saddam Hussein in Iraq now points to a new nuclear Axis of Evil. Iran and North Korea. These nations and other rogue states as well as terrorists may pose key threats because they are beyond deterrence which was based on the credible fear of retaliation after attack. This new study places these and other developments such as the clear potential for a new nuclear arms race in Asia within the context of evolving US security policy. Detailing the important milestones in the development of US nuclear strategy and considering the present and future security dilemmas related to nuclear weapons, this is a major new contribution to our understanding of the present international climate and the future. Individual chapters are devoted to the key issues of missile defenses, nuclear proliferation and Israel's nuclear deterrent. This book will be of great interest to all students and scholars of strategic studies, international relations and US foreign policy.

Defence and Consensus Christoph Bertram, 1983-06-18 Deterrence Without the Bomb Avner Yaniv, 1987 Deterrence in the Twenty-first Century Anthony Christopher Cain, 2010. Sponsored by the Air Force Research Institute AFRI and the Royal United Services Institute, the conference was held in London on 18-19 May 2009 and focused on deterrence to help understand and begin to develop policy frameworks that fit the current and emerging security context. Assembling some of the best minds on deterrence, the conference afforded speakers an opportunity to invigorate this essential tool for today's policy community. In addition, the conference included two preconference thought pieces and two quick looks by AFRI personnel. AU Press web site Israel and Conventional Deterrence Jonathan Shimshoni, 1988 Bernard Brodie and the Foundations of American Nuclear Strategy Barry Howard Steiner, 1991. Steiner analyzes how and why Brodie's understanding of weapons of unparalleled explosive force led him to posit the need for revolutionary strategic thinking in broadminded analytic method and in the focus upon cities as nuclear targets He shows the tremendous effect Brodie's work had on the intellectual climate in which policy is determined particularly in his frequent combatting of conventional wisdom

The Emerging Shield Kenneth Schaffel, 1991 Diplomacy, War, and Technology Since 1830 Maurice Pearton, 1984 No other book combines so much of modern military history with so rich an exploration of related factors in industry finance education and technology as well as statecraft Combining strands of history from all these areas Pearton makes an unusually complete and cogent case for the breakdown of traditional distinctions between the civil and the military and even between war and peace This is an excellent work of military and economic history Russell F Weigley author of The American Way of War Pearton's historical approach adds needed depth and perspective to many contemporary discussions of the arms problem This is an illuminating and incisive inquiry into a phenomenon of unquestioned importance International Affairs
