Fabrizio Cafaggi, Horatia Muir Watt, 2009-01-01 In twelve topical papers written by renowned experts in distinct areas of the law the reader will find out how private law and private international law instruments can serve public policy goals such as the protection of the environment product safety or services of general economic interest and how these instruments interact with regulation in the proper sense A must for those who want to explore the borderline if it exists between public and private law in the EU Jules Stuyck Leuven University Belgium In the context of the current debate on the desirability and process of forming European private law EPL this book considers one fundamental question addressing its descriptive and normative dimension does and should EPL pursue regulatory objectives beyond market integration The editors argue that because national categories are of little help in grasping the characteristics of a multi level regulatory system it is necessary to link three perspectives private law regulation and conflict of laws This book explores this interaction in four distinct fields product liability environmental protection public utilities and e commerce The results show that EPL is highly regulatory and that the implications of this change have not been adequately considered by institutions and by scholars The Regulatory Function of European Private Law will be of great interest to academics of law as well as to private and public lawyers and European policymakers Compensating Catastrophe Victims Véronique Bruggeman, 2010-01-01 This book shows that amelioration of the current compensation solutions for disaster victims is indeed a possibility In a heated yet often poorly informed debate it offers clarity and insights regarding the financial compensation for victims of catastrophes which in addition to raising academic interest are certain to help build a framework for future policymakers and lawmakers faced with shaping compensation programmes for catastrophe victims Commercial and Maritime Law in China and Europe

Shengnan Jia, Lijun Liz Zhao, 2022-12-26 Both China and Europe have a long tradition of commercial and maritime law and this new book examining various topics from their particular perspectives is both timely and important It links the vital component of maritime law with commercial law financial law and trade policy The book has performed a remarkable task in making connections between China and Europe through the lenses of substantive and procedural laws covering a wide range of areas including commercial law insurance law salvage EU maritime law and Brexit carriage of goods by sea arbitration mediation litigation the recently formed China International Commercial Court and different liability regimes as well as a brief look forward into new initiatives and artificial intelligence in the digital age In these challenging times we all have much to learn from each other in seeking to find answers to what are often difficult problems This book provides a welcome opportunity for anyone interested in commercial and maritime law to engage in that learning exercise and looking ahead thereby to help solve such problems as may arise in the future in a practical and fair manner It is therefore of great relevance to both the academic field and the legal practice field in China and Europe *New York Court of Appeals. New York (State)., Symposium, Climate Change Liability and the Allocation of Risk ,2007 Kentucky Journal of Equine, Agriculture, and Natural Resources Law ,2011 Handbook of Insurance Georges Dionne,2013-12-02 This new edition of the Handbook of Insurance reviews the last forty years of research developments in insurance and its related fields A single reference source for professors researchers graduate students regulators consultants and practitioners the book starts with the history and foundations of risk and insurance theory followed by a review of prevention and precaution asymmetric information risk management insurance pricing new financial innovations reinsurance corporate governance capital allocation securitization systemic risk insurance regulation the industrial organization of insurance markets and other insurance market applications It ends with health insurance longevity risk long term care insurance life insurance financial products and social insurance This second version of the Handbook contains 15 new chapters Each of the 37 chapters has been written by leading authorities in risk and insurance research all contributions have been peer reviewed and each chapter can be read independently of the others Yearbook of European Environmental Law ,2005 European Legal Book Index ,2003 Columbia Law Review ,1997 Current Law Index ,2006 The Institutional Framework of European Private Law Fabrizio Cafaggi,2006 This volume explores the relationship between constitutional and regulatory questions on the one hand and private law on the other hand examining how European private law has developed under the influence of regional legal traditions and the EU acquis communautaire It focuses on the multiple actors and institutions that today contribute to legal and cultural integration within a multi level framework involving Member States and subnational actors together with EU Institutions It underlines the different roles of legislators regulators and judges in building an integrated market which is consistent with fundamental rights and social policies It also highlights the principles and institutions that may preserve national legal identities in the context of European legal and political integration striking a difficult balance between harmonization and differentiation Within this framework the volume questions the current boundaries of European private laws and proposes a coordinated perspective which examines competition regulation and private law alike The book focuses in particular on competition and consumer law and on tort and regulation Attention is also drawn to the strategic role to be played by private international law It is argued that the distinction between private and public law should be redefined by acknowledging a new balance between public institutions and private parties The collection contains several proposals for furthering the process of Europeanization of private law without losing the richness of existing western legal traditions as they have developed in previous centuries It calls on European and national institutions to involve practitioners in devising new patterns of legal integration and in transforming European legal education This book is an original contribution to the scholarly and policy debates about the desirability and modes of Europeanization of private law in a context in which the pressures of globalization and of national identities seem to question the chosen path of integration
