Developing Technology With Farmers A Trainers Guide For Participatory Learning:

Developing Technology with Farmers Laurens van Veldhuizen, Ann Waters-Bayer, Henk de Zeeuw, 1997 This manual is written for trainers in governmental and non governmental development organizations who are preparing their staff to work together with farmers in developing technologies appropriate to ecological agriculture and using few external inputs The training is designed to stimulate active learning by participants who draw on their own experience an approach which mirrors the type of interaction between facilitator and farmers in Participatory Technology Development PTD

Enabling Participatory Research and Development Julian F. Gonsalves, 2005 Research and development can no longer be the exclusive domain of scientists To find sustainable solutions to development problems a wider range of actors must be involved It is crucial for example that local stakeholders provide input to the process Participatory research and development PR D offers such an inclusive model This three volume sourcebook provides easy access to field tested PR D concepts and practices for practitioners researchers and academic As well it presents a comprehensive overview of PR D and will serve as a general reference for trainers policymakers donor

Making Each and Every Farmer Count Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 1998-01-01 Presents six case studies on agricultural engineering projects in African which have employed a range of techniques to get farmers both male and female to participate in projects and adapt technologies

Agricultural Development Policy Roger D. Norton, 2005-08-05 Prepared under the aegis of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations FAO this text presents a fresh and comprehensive look at agricultural development policy It provides a clear systematic review of important classes of policy issues in developing countries and discusses the emerging international consensus on viable approaches to the issues The text is unique in its coverage and depth and it Summarises hundreds of references on agricultural development policies Cites policy experiences and applied studies in more than 70 countries Provides guidance for policy makers giving examples of successes and failures Reviews issues related to the formulation of strategies and the requirements for making them successful Develops the conceptual foundations and illustrates policies that have worked and some that have not with explanations Topics covered include agriculture s role in economic development the objectives and strategies of agricultural policy linkages between macroeconomic and agricultural policy policies for the agricultural financial system and agricultural technology development Upper level undergraduates taking courses in Economic Development and International Development and graduates taking courses in Agricultural Development International and Economic Development Natural Resource Management and specialised topics in agriculture will find this text of great interest It also serves as a reference for professionals and researchers in the field of International Development

Trees on the Farm Steven Charles Franzel, Sara J. Scherr, 2002-03-19 Most published books on agroforestry have focused on biophysical aspects There has been a lack of scientifically rigorous information about the socioeconomic features of agroforestry and the adoption of agroforestry practices by farmers This book fills that gap by assessing the adoption of selected agroforestry practices developed with African farmers describing methods and drawing out the implications for research development and policy The volume includes five case studies of research conducted in Kenya and Zambia to evaluate the adoption potential of agroforestry The cases illustrate methods of farm and village technology design testing and analysis that are applicable to a wide range of natural resource management practices Along with the case studies the contents also include chapters on methods for assessing agroforestry adoption potential promoting new agroforestry technologies policy lessons from on farm research and assessing adoption potential lessons learned and future directions PETTRA - An Experiment in Pro-Poor Agricultural Research ,

Farmer Innovation in Africa Chris Reij,Ann Waters-Bayer,2014-07-10 One of Africa s major untapped resources is the creativity of its farmers This book presents a series of clear and detailed studies that demonstrate how small scale farmers both men and women experiment and innovate in order to improve their livelihoods despite the adverse conditions and lack of appropriate external support with which they have to contend The studies are based on fieldwork in a wide variety of farming systems throughout Africa and have been written primarily by African researchers and extension specialists Numerous lively examples show how a participatory approach to agricultural research and development that builds on local knowledge and innovation can stimulate the creativity of all involved not only the farmers This approach which recognizes the farmers capacity to innovate as the crucial component of success provides a much needed alternative to the conventional transfer of technology paradigm This book is a rich source of case studies and analyses of how agricultural research and development policy can be changed It presents evidence of the resilience and resolution of rural communities in Africa and will be an inspiration for development workers researchers and policy makers as well as for students and teachers of agriculture environment and sustainable development Farmer field schools: Emerging issues and challenges.

*International Learning Workshop on Farmer Field Schools (FFS). Yogyakarta (Indonesia). 21-25 oct 2002. ,2003 d FFS institutionalization scaling up and policy development as part of mainstreaming processes Farmer Centred Innovation Development Annette Kolff,Laurens van Veldhuizen,Chesha Wettasinha,A. Learning Endogenous Development ,2007 Endogenous development places the major importance in working with local communities on using people s own resources strategies and initiatives as the basis for their development It considers not only the material but also the socio cultural and the spiritual resources of people in order to broaden the options when formulating appropriate development paths without romanticizing people s traditional worldviews and practices This book provides ideas guidelines and examples of how to put endogenous development into practice It also shows how field staff can be helped to learn and how training or learning activities can best be organized to support endogenous development

Extension Bulletin - Food & Fertilizer Technology Center Asian and Pacific Council. Food & Fertilizer Technology Center,1996 Participatory Livestock Research Czech Conroy,2005 This book is the first to offer an introduction to participatory research for livestock development Despite the attention paid to participatory research methodologies in other areas of agricultural development participatory livestock work has been relatively neglected despite the evident relevance of and demand for such approaches This book will bring livestock researchers and practitioners up to date with the latest and best practice in participatory research Participatory Livestock Research will help researchers and practitioners to overcome the potential difficulties associated with participatory livestock research The book shows how a participatory approach to technology development can be successful It also shows how to undertake needs assessment using participatory approaches and how to avoid the problems associated with on farm livestock experiments Participatory Livestock Research is essential reading for all those involved in livestock research and will be also be of interest to workers and researchers interested in wider agricultural development issues in universities national agricultural research systems and NGOs and extension workers and practitioners in agricultural service agencies

Learning and Livelihoods A. Orr,2000 Working with Farmers W. W. Stür,2000 The topics of these papers include the participatory approaches to developing agricultural technologies with smallholder farmers scaling up adoption of agricultural technologies summarizing forage technologies and options for upland farmers and livestock production on farm Newsletter Agricultural Research and Extension Network,1996

Participatory Watershed Development John Farrington,Cathryn Turton,A. J. James,2000 Efforts have long been made in India to improve the management of major watersheds for ecological reasons such as reducing the siltation of reservoirs The management of micro watersheds of around 500 hectares is a more recent focus of policy and has both ecology and livelihoods as its objectives Experiments have shown that in some areas more than a doubling of resource productivity can be achieved by careful rehabilitation Many watersheds contain both private and common land It is already clear from a number of efforts led by NGOs that to be equitable and institutionally sustainable the rehabilitation of both common and private lands needs action rooted in strong resource user groups capable of taking decisions in a participatory way and resolving conflict To build up groups in this way requires both time and skills both of which have proved elusive in government projects and programmes The key question addressed in this book is how far the approaches developed by NGOs can be adopted or adapted by the public sector and applied on a wide scale for without such approaches neither the ecological nor the livelihood benefits of watershed rehabilitation will be achieved The Journal of Developing Areas ,1997

Traditions and Innovation in Land Husbandry ,1999 Promoting Farmer Innovation Will Critchley,Roshan Cooke,1999 SADC Planning Workshop on Newcastle Disease Control in Village Chickens P. B. Spradbrow,2001 In developing countries in Africa Asia and Central and South America the keeping of village poultry is a constant backdrop to village life This publication is a record of the papers presented at the workshop in Maputo Mozambique 6-9 March 2000 on Newcastle disease in village chickens
