

An aerial photograph of a coastal town, likely Victoria, British Columbia. The town is built on a peninsula, with a large bay in the foreground. The background features a range of mountains under a clear sky. The water is a deep blue, and the land is a mix of green and brown. The title 'Developing Community Nursing Practice' is overlaid in large, bold, red letters.

Developing Community Nursing Practice:

Developing Community Nursing Practice Spencer, Sue, Unsworth, John, Burke, W., 2001-08-01 Developing Community Nursing Practice is the first book to identify and debate the key issues around community nurses taking responsibility for developing the ways in which they deliver care Modern health care expects the individual practitioner to develop patient focused accessible and evidence based community services Despite the fact that the introduction and management of change is now a feature of professional education community nurses often feel ill prepared for introducing change in the real world perceiving a gap between theory and practice Developing Community Nursing Practice aims to close that gap This book interweaves thinking about change and innovation with wide ranging case study experience of contemporary community nursing It addresses often neglected issues in practice development such as evaluation and sustainability It gives guidance on how to identify what aspects of practice need to be developed on how to convince others of the need to change on how to work across organizational boundaries and on the likely hazards and how to tackle them This is a key resource for all student and practising community nurses across all specialisms providing information on how to initiate and implement change and on how ultimately to succeed in developing their own practice Developing Community Nursing Practice' 2006

Ed.2006 Edition , Rural Landscapes of Community Health Jean Ross, Samuel Mann, Keith Whiddon, 2023-12-06 The book describes a novel method of engaging rural communities in partnership initially with nurse learners to research and employ the Community Health Assessment Sustainability Education CHASE model CHASE provides a consolidated structure that immerses nurse learners in community development in partnership with their group peers community organisations and educational supervisors The book engages with community development practitioners community activists including rural health practitioners who provide services to rural populations undergraduate health disciplines postgraduate learners educators and researchers The CHASE system is described in detail and offers case studies on its application in a variety of geographical contexts CHASE is a starting point that does not set out to impose a single understanding it is adapted in practice to rural communities requirements Therefore capturing how this model has been adapted within diverse international rural communities to accommodate community needs is paramount and aligned with each individual case study presented in the book CHASE enhances collaborative relationships in the global landscape informing nursing curricula and teaching and learning pedagogy internationally with a view to reduce health disparities This book is a valuable resource of pioneering work that spans disciplines and promotes collaboration among stakeholders invested in rural community health By weaving together connections between disciplines and communities the authors highlight the importance of spatial thinking and its impact on health and well being Readers are given a comprehensive exploration of the challenges of indigenous minority and vulnerable rural populations presented as insightful narrative case studies Kate Emond Rural Department of Nursing and Midwifery La Trobe University Australia The Editors have skillfully incorporated on
