

Studying Tips for High School Students

Review and Re-write

Each day, during study hall or after school, go through the notes from that day. Re-write them and highlight, underline, or circle the key points.

Make Study Cards

At the end of each week, make study cards of the important things you learned in each class for that week, and briefly quiz yourself on them. This way, when it gets closer to test time, you will not be in a rush to make study cards for the entire unit.

Find a Quiet Study Area

Whether you prefer the library, or a shady spot under a tree, find a place where you will not be distracted while you study. Avoid studying in bed, or on a couch, where you may be tempted to take a nap.

Take Breaks

Set a timer for 30-45 minutes, and study non-stop for that length of time. When the timer goes off, take a 5-10 minute break before returning to studying. Every 3-4 hours, take a 30 minute break to eat, drink, or take a quick walk.
