Determinism And Freedom In Stoic Philosophy:

Determinism and Freedom in Stoic Philosophy Susanne Bobzien, 1999-01-29 Determinism and Freedom in Stoic Philosophy is the first comprehensive study of one of the most important intellectual legacies of the ancient Greek world the Stoic theory of causal determinism The book identifies the main problems that the Stoics addressed and reconstructs the theory and explores how they squared their determinism with their conceptions of possibility action freedom and moral responsibility and how they defended it against objections and criticism by other philosophers It shows how the Stoics distinguished their causal determinism from ancient theories of logical determinism fatalism and necessitarianism Along the way an authoritative account is given of many other related aspects of Stoic thought including their views on the predictability of the future the role of empirical sciences the determination of character and moral freedom Bobzien s study of these central doctrines of Stoicism reveals the considerable philosophical richness and power that they retain today

The Stoics on Determinism and Compatibilism Ricardo Salles, 2017-03-02 The Stoics on Determinism and Compatibilism is an important book which reconstructs the arguments deployed by the Stoics in favour of the view that everything is necessary and examines the development of the different arguments given by the Stoics that this is compatible with moral responsibility and desert The book carefully distinguishes two separate theses in Stoic theory that everything that happens and is the case has a cause and that causation is necessitating The book also provides a new reconstruction of Stoic compatibilism distinguishing four different compatibilist theories Salles has written a book which is non technical in its approach and which assesses the Stoic positions on determinism compatibilism freedom and responsibility in the light of the modern debate on this issue Covering not just the ancient debates and thinkers such as Epictetus and Chrysippus but also examining the compatibilist views of the major modern theorist Harry Frankfurt finding indications of his main intuitions already present in the Stoic arguments and tackling the positions of Susanne Bobzien Determinism, Freedom, and Moral Responsibility Susanne Bobzien, 2021-05-20 Determinism Freedom and Moral Responsibility brings together nine essays on determinism freedom and moral responsibility in antiquity by Susanne Bobzien The essays present the main ancient theories of determinism freedom and moral responsibility ranging from Aristotle via Epicureans and Stoics to Alexander of Aphrodisias in the third century CE The author discusses questions about rational and autonomous human agency and their compatibility with preceding causes external or internal with external impediments with divine predetermination and theological questions with physical theories like atomism and continuum theory and with the sciences more generally with elements that determine character development from childhood such as nature and nurture with epistemic features such as ignorance of circumstances with necessity and modal theories generally with folk theories of fatalism and also with questions of how human autonomous agency is related to moral development virtue and wisdom blame and praise Historically unified philosophically profound and methodologically rigorous Bobzien s discussions show that in classical and Hellenistic philosophy these topics were all debated without reference to freedom to do otherwise or to free will and that the latter two notions were fully developed only later

Inference from Signs James Allen, 2001-06-07 James Allen presents an original and penetrating investigation of the notion of inference from signs which played a central role in ancient philosophical and scientific method Inference from Signs examines an important chapter in ancient epistemology the debates about the nature of evidence and of the inferences based on it or signs and sign inferences as they were called in antiquity Special attention is paid to three main issues Firstly the relation between sign inference and explanation At a minimum sign inferences permit us to draw a new conclusion and they are used in this way in every sphere of life But inferences must do more than this if they are to play the parts assigned to them by natural philosophers and medical theorists who appeal to signs to support the theories they put forward to explain the phenomena in their domains Allen examines the efforts made by Aristotle the Stoics the Epicureans and in medicine to discover what further conditions must be satisfied by inferences if they are to advance explanatory purposes To speak of inference from signs presupposes that the use of signs is a form of reasoning from grounds to a conclusion However an alternative nonrational conception is explored according to which the use of signs depends instead on acquired dispositions to be reminded by one thing of another This view is traced to its probable origin in the Empirical school of medicine whence it was taken by Pyrrhonian sceptics who introduced it into philosophy Evidence sometimes supports conclusive arguments but at other times it only makes a conclusion probable Allen investigates Aristotle s path breaking attempt to erect standards by which to evaluate non conclusive but in Aristotelian terms reputable inferences Inference from Signs fills an important gap in the histories of science and philosophy and provides the first comprehensive treatment of this topic

The Philosophy of the Commentators, 200-600 AD Research Professor of Philosophy at King's College London and Fellow Richard Sorabji, Richard Sorabji, 2005-10 This is a sourcebook that draws upon the 400 years of transition from ancient Greek philosophy to the medieval philosophy of Islam and the West Philosophy was then often written in the form of commentaries on the works of Plato and Aristotle Many ideas wrongly credited to the Middle Ages derive from this period e g that of impetus in dynamics and intentional objects in philosophy of mind The later Neoplatonist commentators fought a losing battle with Christianity but inadvertently made Aristotle acceptable to Christians by ascribing to him belief in a Creator God and human immortality They also provided a panorama of up to 1000 years of preceding Greek philosophy much of it otherwise lost They serve as the missing link essential for understanding the history of Western philosophy The physics of the commentators was innovatory The Neoplatonists among them thought that the world of space and time was causally ordered by a non spatial non temporal world and this required original thinking Of the sixth century Neoplatonists Simplicius considered his teacher s ideas on space and time to be unprecedented and Philoponus revised Aristotelianism to produce a new physics built around the Christian belief in God s creation of the world The Middle Ages borrowed from Philoponus and other commentators the proofs of a finite past the idea of degrees of latitude in change and mixture and in dynamics the idea of impetus and the defence of motion in a vacuum All sources appear in English translation and are carefully linked and cross referenced by editorial comment and explanation
