Ruth Baja Williams, 2015-11-30 One Asian Individual follows Ruth Baja Williams's first memoir Detour Berlin which chronicles her experiences in Cold War Berlin. After returning to the United States, Ruth becomes an American citizen. She misquotes the words of the Pledge of Allegiance: She thinks one nation indivisible is one Asian individual. Ruth decides that what she thought she heard was accurate after all because the second half of her life is about discovering herself her Asian self Tract

Thinking about the Enlightenment looks beyond the current parameters of studying the Enlightenment to the issues that can be understood by reflecting on the period in a broader context. Each of the thirteen original chapters by an international and interdisciplinary team of contributors illustrates the problematic legacy of the Enlightenment and the continued ramifications of its thinking since the eighteenth century. Together they consider whether modernity can see its roots in the intellectual revolution of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. The collection is divided into six sections preceded by a comprehensive introduction to the field and the most recent scholarship on the period. Across the sections the contributors consider modern day encounters with Enlightenment thinking including Kant's moral philosophy, the conflict between reason and faith, the significance of the Enlightenment of law and the gender inequality that persisted throughout the eighteenth century. By examining specific encounters with the problematic results of Enlightenment concerns, the contributors are able to illuminate and offer new perspectives on topics such as human nature, race, politics, gender, and rationality. Drawing from history, philosophy, literature, and anthropology, this book enables students and academics alike to take a fresh look at the Enlightenment and its legacy in the modern world New England Roads ,1919 Somerset Legal Journal ,1926
