Developing Frontier Cities Harvey Lithwick, Yehuda Gradus, 2013-04-17 The Unique Nature of Frontier Cities and their Development Challenge Harvey Lithwick and Yehuda Grad us The advent of government downsizing and globalization has led to enormous competitive pressures as well as the opening of new opportunities How cities in remote frontier areas might cope with what for them might appear to be a devastating challenge is the subject of this book Our concern is with frontier cities in particular In our earlier study Frontiers in Regional Development Rowman and Littlefield 1996 we examined the distinction between frontiers and peripheries The terms are often used interchangeably but we believe that in fact both in scholarly works and in popular usage very different connotations are conveyed by these concepts Frontiers evoke a strong positive image of sparsely settled territories offering challenges adventure unspoiled natural landscapes and a different and for many an attractive life style Frontiers are lands of opportunity Peripheries conjure up negative images of inaccessibility inadequate services and political and economic marginality They are places to escape from rather than frontiers which is where people escape to Peripheries are places of and for losers

International Handbook on Geographical Education

Rod Gerber, 2013-03-09 I am very pleased to have been asked by Rod Gerber to provide a preface to such a book Not least because of the twenty four chapters eight are written by former students or colleagues with whom I have worked in the past and whom I still meet at conferences on geographical education It is with a certain pride and joy that I note the progress which has been made in geographical education both in its day to day teaching and in research in the twenty years following the end of my term of office as Chair of the Commission on Geographical Education of the International Geographical Union CGEIUG My successors Joe Stoltman Hartwig Haubrich Rod Gerber and now Lea Houtsonen have done much and are continuing to work hard to foster the development of geographical education This book is proof if proof were needed that the international collaboration in this field is alive and well with contributions coming from all the continents except Antarctica It would be a moribund subject that remained unaffected in one way or another by developments on the great world stage as Fairgrieve 1926 would have put it And as Rod Gerber shows the issues of globalisation of cultural encounters of differing value systems of new technologies of variable economic development and of environmental quality all feature as topics which influence and are influenced by geographical education

Emerging Nodes in the Global Economy: Frankfurt and Tel Aviv Compared D. Felsenstein, E.W. Schamp, A. Shachar, 2013-03-14 Cities form one of the principal arenas in which globalization processes are manifest Much of the interest in the urban outcomes of globalization is focused on a limited number of iconic global or world cities Most places however will never attain that status They are more likely to play limited and specialized roles in a world economy increasingly dominated by flows Emerging Nodes in a Global Network looks at the temporal and volatile ways in which two such cities Frankfurt and Tel Aviv engage the global economy The central thesis of the book contends that the current round of globalization is characterized by places selectively functioning as nodes within global networks Drawing on a combination of qualitative and quantitative empirical studies of leading sectors in Frankfurt and Tel Aviv financial and business services high technology air transportation tourism and cultural industries the process of network formation is systematically analyzed and the role of national and regional policy is highlighted Audience This book will be of major interest to academics researchers practitioners and policy makers in the areas of urban and economic geography public policy and economic development It also provides valuable material for government officials and regional and national agencies involved in metropolitan planning and development
