Sources include printed and computer access tools, private organizations, and government agencies that provide direct assistance or referral services, commercial bibliographic services, and state library services. Some services that access foreign or international data are included. Following a brief discussion of background principles, the material is presented under 3 major categories: printed research tools (e.g., dictionaries, directories, bibliographies, abstracting and indexing services, statistical sources, special subjects, special education, instructional materials, guides), printed sources on finance and government, and nonprint sources (e.g., computerized retrieval sources, educational and financial information, nonprint sources, institutional instruction materials, information sources, and state library services for educators). A brief final section identifies writing guides and style manuals for administrators, researchers, teachers, and dissemination specialists. The Art of Writing Business Reports & Proposals Howard Hillman, Lisa Loring, 1981 A Guide for Funding Resource Development, 1974
