Progenitor Diversity and Neural Cell Specification in the Central Nervous System Marcos R. Costa, Cecilia Hedin-Pereira, Caroline Rouaux, 2015-12-18 The central nervous system continuously perceives integrates processes and generates information These complex functions rely on the detailed elaboration of its cellular network and on the myriads of individual highly differentiated and specialized cell types classically subdivided into neurons astrocytes and oligodendrocytes The specification of these individual populations begins early during development with less differentiated yet already partly restricted progenitor cells Anatomically located in dedicated germinative niches neural progenitors perceive the influence of diffusible molecules of various natures and concentrations These signals result in the initial specialization of cohorts of progenitors that express unique combinations of transcription factors It is now clearly established that both extrinsic and intrinsic signals act in concert to determine the fate potentials of these progenitor cohorts This limitation increases over time adult neural progenitors being more restricted than their developmental counterparts Nevertheless recent data have shown that the fate restriction of neural progenitors as well as that of their progenies can be overwritten upon selected intrinsic factor expression not only during development but also in adulthood This e book is a collection of original research studies along with review articles that together provide insights into the vast spatiotemporal diversity of neural progenitors and the various factors that govern their fate potential      Spatial Diversity and Dynamics in Resources and Urban Development

Ashok K. Dutt, Allen G. Noble, Frank J. Costa, Rajiv R. Thakur, Sudhir K. Thakur, 2015-11-24 This double volume work focuses on socio demographics and the use of such data to support strategic resource management and planning initiatives Papers go beyond explanations of methods technique and traditional applications to explore new intersections in the dynamic relationship between the utilization and management of resources and urban development International authors explore numerous experiences characteristics of development and decision making influences from across Asia and Southeast Asia as well as recounting examples from America and Africa Papers propound techniques and methods used in geographical research such as support vector machines socio economic correlates and travel behaviour analysis In this volume the contributors examine cutting edge theories explaining diversity and dynamics in urban development Topics covered include human vulnerability to hazards space and urban problematic assessment and evaluation of regional urban systems and structures and urban transformations as a result of structural change economic development and underdevelopment The significance of these topics lie in the pace and volume of change as is happening in geography reflecting continued development within established fields of inquiry and the introduction of significantly new approaches during the last decade Readers are invited to consider the dynamics of spatial expansion of urban areas and economic development and to explore conceptual discussion of the innovations in and challenges on urbanization processes urban spaces themselves and both resource management and environmental management Together the two volumes contribute to the interdisciplinary literature on regional resources and urban development by collating recent research with geography at its core Scholars of urban geography human geography urbanism and sustainable development will be particularly interested in this book

Family Diversity and Family Policy: Strengthening Families for America's Children Richard M. Lerner, Elizabeth E. Sparks, Laurie D. McCubbin, 2013-03-09 Family Diversity and Family Policy describes the dimensions of diversity which characterize the contemporary American family and discusses the implications for public policy and associated intervention programs linked to this diversity The authors contend that if the programs and policies available to support families are to be most useful they need to reflect the diversity of the families they intend to help Beginning with a discussion of the historical and contemporary context of the American family Family Diversity and Family Policy focuses on child poverty and argues that this topic may be usefully studied within the context of developmental systems theory This theory systematically links the development of individuals to variations in their physical and social ecology and is used as a framework for discussing Contemporary challenges faced by parents charged with rearing adolescents and the familial and societal issues that arise when the adolescents being reared are parents themselves Current policy issues that arise from welfare debates in the United States and from recently enacted welfare reform legislation The importance for our nation of developing a comprehensive national youth policy The authors draw implications for the design delivery and evaluation of diversity sensitive policies and programs for families and youth and offer a vision of how to link scholars policy makers and community members in multi professional and multi institutional collaborations promoting the positive development of American families and youth Family Diversity and Family Policy is relevant to scholars and policy makers interested in human development particularly of children and adolescents In addition it should be essential reading for practitioners and policy makers in government private industry and public and private social service organizations Diversity in Development, 1986
