depth and mediated interviews forums blogs and official statements made by dating apps It situates this transition within the broader culture of data colonialism through close readings of science fiction suggesting the world has become like Us where doppelgangers constituted from reprehensible proclivities have emerged as digital profiles reflected back to users through the horrific play of social media mirrors to govern their encounters against their wishes These mirrors allow media companies to conduct surreptitious experiments on users dispossessed desires devise digital doppelgangers from those they disavow and compel behaviors that are lucrative precisely because they are misaligned with humane values Yet this horrific play of mirrors is not inevitable By attending to the ghosts of colonialism unleashed by media companies through the approach developed in this book it is still possible to galvanize the collective will to combat data colonialism and strive to create a world where love disentangled from colonial modes of desire is possible This study will interest scholars attempting to understand the rapidly evolving ecology of dating apps within the areas of digital media media sociology cultural studies anthropology and media and communication studies

Sharenthood Leah A. Plunkett, 2019-09-10 From baby pictures in the cloud to a high school's digital surveillance system how adults unwittingly compromise children's privacy online Our children's first digital footprints are made before they can walk even before they are born as parents use fertility apps to aid conception post ultrasound images and share their baby's hospital mug shot Then in rapid succession come terabytes of baby pictures stored in the cloud digital baby monitors with built in artificial intelligence and real time updates from daycare When school starts there are cafeteria cards that catalog food purchases bus passes that track when kids are on and off the bus electronic health records in the nurse's office and a school surveillance system that has eyes everywhere Unwittingly parents teachers and other trusted adults are compiling digital dossiers for children that could be available to everyone friends employers law enforcement forever In this incisive book Leah Plunkett examines the implications of sharenting adults excessive digital sharing of children's data She outlines the mistakes adults make with kids private information the risks that result and the legal system that enables sharenting Plunkett describes various modes of sharenting including commercial sharenting efforts by parents to use their families private experiences to make money and unpacks the faulty assumptions made by our legal system about children parents and privacy She proposes a thought compass to guide adults in their decision making about children's digital data play forget connect and respect Enshrining every false step and bad choice Plunkett argues can rob children of their chance to explore and learn lessons The Internet needs to forget We need to remember
